"VERY SUSPICIOUS" FIRE DAMAGES FOULET HOUSE: An early Tuesday morning fire, described by fire investigators as "very suspicious" partially damaged the former Alfred Foulet colonial home at 181 Cherry Hill Road. Story Page 4.

Council Presents Plans for Larger Garage With Retail Space; Bond Ordinance Passed

Once again Borough Council held a public hearing on the $105,000 bond ordinance for design of the Spring Street garage; once again, dollar figures on both sides were challenged, and once again Council passed the measure with Richard Woodbridge voting against.

The hearing and vote were last Thursday. "Dollars and Sense" opponents have already begun to canvass property-owners for signatures to the required petition, with a deadline of next Monday. If the petition is filed, a special referendum will be held in the Borough on May 4.

But the familiar script had some new lines: the Borough presented a larger, re-designed garage with retail space, and Dollars and Sense had a new set of figures.

The new garage has 313 parking spaces instead of the 240 proposed before. Redesignated specifically for the Spring-Tulane site — instead of being the lopped-off half of the rejected garage whose bridge spanned Spring — the new proposed structure has 50 cars in its basement, proportionate numbers on levels 1, 2, 3 and 4, and 59 on the roof.

Allowed to do so by the new Borough ordinance, it provides more spaces for compact cars — 16 percent of the whole, in fact. It has been moved right to the lot lines, and has room for a two-story commercial building.

Figures presented by Borough Engineer George Olexa showed a total construction cost of $2,529,084; yearly expenses of $60,700; income of $288,641 for an operating profit of $227,941.

He pointed out that the Borough would lose some $50,000 from meter revenue ("The cash cow we're going to slaughter if we build the garage," in the words of Council member Robert McChesney) but would receive an estimated $50,000 from Princeton Community Housing in lieu of taxes, and $19,000 from commercial space in PCH's apartment building. He said the net profit, before financing, would be $245,921.

Debt service, Mr. Olexa said, would result in break-even in 1992, if the Borough must borrow at 12 percent. That was the highest interest figure he showed. His other calculations were based on 9, 10 and 11 percent, estimates greeted with scorn by opponents of the garage.

"I protest very strongly a public hearing on a brand new building when nobody knows enough about it to comment," exclaimed Orren Jack Turner, for Dollars and Sense. "It's legal, but questionable."

Since the bond issue referred only to the design, replied Mayor Robert W. Cawley, it is "logical" that details are not yet complete. When Roger McDonough suggested

Collins Receives Loan Approval For Garage on Chambers Street

Collins Development hopes to open its Chambers Street garage before Christmas of this year, following loan approval last week by the New Jersey Economic Development Authority for the $8 million structure.

The firm must now find a buyer, or buyers, for the tax-exempt bond issue authorized by the EDA. James Harvie, Collins vice-president, told reporters this week that he has already begun talks with Princeton banks and "other" banks about buying the bonds.

After Collins has firm commitments from banks, or whatever institutions are willing, Mr. Harvie must go back to the EDA for final approval of all the garage details. He said he hopes to have these commitments in about 45 days.

Meanwhile, S.T. Peterson Co., the Princeton construction firm, is completing final design and construction plans. John Williams, of the Collins firm, said the garage will be built on a "design-build" basis. Yankee Planning, Collins' planning arm, did the basic design and S.T. Peterson is carrying on from there.

The appeal to Borough Council of Planning Board approval of the garage, was filed too late, Council has pointed out. Four Borough merchants and professionals have protested inclusion of a drive-in bank at the John-Hulfish corner of the garage. Herbert Mihan, whose father, Eric Mihan Sr., was one of the appellants, says it is possible that the group may take the matter to court.

Mr. Harvie told reporters he hopes that he can resolve the situation through discussions with the Mihans and the other parties to the appeal. Mr. Mihan said he would be "happy" to confer with Mr. Harvie.

Collins also announced this week the new managers of the Nassau Inn. (See "Business in Princeton.")

The hearing before the EDA was suspenseful, Mr. Harvie reported. Collins' first appearance before the EDA, in January, was not fruitful and the firm was given the option of returning with more facts.

"We weren't sure we were getting through, especially with a new administration in Trenton," Mr. Harvie said. "We learned that Dan Biederman, the new state treasurer, had called a meeting with the heads of Labor, Commerce and the Department of Environmental Protection, especially on Palmer Square.

"Word was that we would really be grilled on the merits of our case, because Biederman was concerned about abuses of these Industrial Development Bond loans, and wanted to make Princeton and Collins an example. I was afraid we were being set up."

For an hour, Mr. Harvie continued, Collins was cross-examined by the EDA: why was it necessary for a town like Princeton to have tax-exempt financing? Princeton is not a "targeted" area; that is, a needy area designated as a target for funds.

Mr. Harvie told them, he said, that parking facilities are not "cash-generators" anywhere, involving heavy capital costs and low revenues.

Few Clues Are Turned Up In Maura Gottlieb Murder

Maura Gottlieb, the 19-year-old Lawrence Township resident, whose body was found floating face down in the Delaware and Raritan Canal March 7, was strangled to death, according to a medical report released last week.

But officials of the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office, which is conducting the investigation, know little also about what happened to the victim during the last hours of her life. There were no witnesses. A purse Miss Gottlieb is believed to have been carrying has not been recovered.

Traces of mud were found in her lungs but Miss Gottlieb's body bore few signs of any defensive wounds normally associated with violent death. The autopsy revealed that Miss Gottlieb had not been raped.

Calling it one of the strangest cases they have encountered, authorities have set up an information hotline — 924-3108. Women who in the past may have hitchhiked on Route 206 or Highway 27 (Nassau Street) in particular are urged to call if they have any information they feel may help. All information will be treated in strictest confidence, promised Mercer County Prosecutor Philip Carchman.

Township Chief Frederick Porter declined to comment on the investigation on Tuesday, but added, "You can be assured that my men are working on it around the clock."

Meanwhile, Miss Gottlieb was buried Monday in Pawtucket, R.I. The day before, approximately 200 friends and relatives gathered at the Aquinas Institute, 65 Stockton Street, for a 90-minute mass conducted by the Rev. Joseph Punderson. "It's bad enough when death comes to a young person through disease or an accident," Rev. Punderson said, "but it is even worse when it comes about due to the violence, hatred and the sickness of a human being."

Miss Gottlieb's body was pulled, fully clothed, from the muddy canal shortly after it was discovered by a Township couple out for a Sunday afternoon walk. It was about 30 feet from Harrison Street.

Investigators are trying to unravel the mystery of what happened to Miss Gottlieb after she left her place of employment at the Executive Answering Service at Nassau near Harrison Street at 11 Saturday night.

Police believe the former Rutgers University student, known as Betsy to her friends, may have tried to hitchhike to her home on the Lawrence Road, seven miles away. Her car was not working, and she had been dropped off at work at 3 that afternoon by her brother.

But the question arises how Miss Gottlieb ended up in the canal which is opposite the direction she would have taken home.

Spring St. Garage

"We demonstrated that we could have a $1.2 million negative cash flow over a period of five or six years."

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley told the EDA that he had been trying for 12 years to get a garage built in Princeton, and the only one in sight was in jeopardy. He was referring to the proposed Borough garage on Spring Street.

Tax income for Borough. "They asked what happens if we turn you down. Well, that would mean the Borough's own general-obligation bonds, and the Spring Street battle all over again. We also reminded them that with their approval and our financing, the garage would pay taxes to the Borough. That wouldn't be the case, if it were the Borough's own bonds."

Mr. Harvie reported that Mr. Biederman declared the garage eligible, and cast the first vote. The only "no" from an EDA member came from Yuki Moore Laurenti, a native of Princeton.

The four-level garage will have one level below grade. Most of the spaces will be for long-term parking through a monthly permit. The first level will be for short-term parking. The garage will have brick facades at its entrances.

Collins will now re-draw the parking stripes on the big Hufish lot. When the Chambers lot is closed for construction of the garage, 110 spaces will be lost. But with the re-striping and the space where the Playhouse used to be, the number of parking spaces will be about the same, Mr. Harvie said. He also said that John Street will not have to be closed during construction.

the Borough "live with" the new Collins garage first, instead of pushing ahead with both at the same time, Mayer Cawley told him that the Collins garage will "barely take care of existing demand and Collins' own additional development."

Alexander Duthie demanded to know where the $50,000 meter revenue loss would be made up, and Mr. McChesney said from taxes or miscellaneous revenues, and Charles Cornforth, from the audience, said, "The taxpayer, somehow, must pay that $50,000."

The new Dollars and Sense figures, presented by Caspar Pennick, added the cost of the garage, amortization, the assessed valuation of the library parking lot, the total cost of a proposed plaza and PCII construction, for a total of $9,446,000.

"This comes to a cost of $71,560 per room, for those 89 PCII apartments," he declared.

Figures 'Misleading.' Council member Peter Bearse said it was "very misleading" to include the assessed valuation of the library lot as a loss to the Borough, and was also "misleading" to include the cost of the PCII building, which is being funded by HUD. If those two items are removed from the figures, he said, the burden to the taxpayer is cut by one-half, and if revenues are included — the figures did not show revenues — the amount to be borne by taxpayers is "much less than the figures." He said the $50,000 meter revenue loss could be capitalized as part of the expense of the garage.

John Miller, of Dollars and Sense, quoted an earlier traffic survey which showed, he said, that 60 percent would never use a parking garage. He also raised questions of security, and asked about lost revenue from parking tickets.

Generally Good Humored. Although the hearing lasted over two hours, it was generally good-humored. (Asking Mr. McChesney whether his figures were based on a definitive market study, Mr. Miller remarked, "Of course, you can always say you use a Ouija board," to which Mayor Cawley smilingly retorted, "I KNOW you do.")

However, Mila Gibbons Gardner, from the audience, in a highly charged address to Council, declared that "You've bothered, annoyed and harassed us — we don't WANT a garage! Are you representing us, the people who live and work here and pay taxes? No!"

She also charged that Council members were being "pushed around by these tax-exempt religious and educational institutions — there's big money behind this, and dubious real-estate enterprises."

Princeton Community Housing, Inc., is a non-profit organization consisting of most of Princeton's churches and educational institutions, banded together to provide lower-cost housing.

"I don't feel pushed around," replied Council member Nelson van den Blink. "We are trying to provide what we understand to be the need of the community."

William H. Walker II said a garage had been discussed for 25 years. Denied the rateables that might have come if the Borough and Township had consolidated, he said, the Borough needs help for its downtown.

Mr. McChesney said he is

Artist Judith Brodsky Brings New Life to Newark Campus As Associate Dean for Development for Rutgers University

"Art is my profession and administration, my hobby," laughs Judith Brodsky, not particularly daunted by the fact that, as associate dean for development of Rutgers University's Newark campus, she can only find time for print-making on week-ends and evenings.

The Princeton artist will be honored this Saturday by B'nai B'rith Women with an 8 p.m. champagne reception at "Morven."

In her thoughts, and on the job, profession and hobby are always interwoven. An animated woman, spilling over with excitements and enthusiasms, Judy is particularly excited about the city of Newark and its potential.

"I feel that I'm applying my skills as an artist to the reshaping of Newark. We're engaged in outreach of all kinds — new programs for the campus, conferences, exhibits, co-operation with the city, always with the focus on what I can do to help turn around the whole image of the city of Newark and Rutgers."

And she laughs: "Do you realize how many art terms I use? 'image,' 'shaping,' 'focus' — all from the art vocabulary!"

"As an artist, I'm removing myself from the concept of solely making art objects, to making use of my trained creative abilities to help solve social problems."

Often, she thinks of her work in terms of the artist Robert Smithson, and his shaping of the land. Perhaps she, too, is making permanent "art" in Newark.

"I feel very strongly about these connections, and that's why I can say that administration doesn't interfere with my work as an artist."

Art Majors Triple. There are 12,000 students on Rutgers' Newark campus. There are three times as many art majors there now, as in 1979, when Judy became associate professor of art and then head of the art department.

"I realized that if I were going to get more people to come to the campus for art, we simply had to establish our presence."

"We teach the student artist how to deal with the whole world of design. As a rule, a student has to choose: a liberal arts curriculum with no design, or an art school with no liberal arts. We say — you can be an art major, with liberal arts. You must take math., a laboratory science, a year of English literature, history."

"But you also get specific training in design, so that you can work as art director in an ad agency, or can design graphics for a large corporation. You can design for TV — we have great audio-visual facilities."

"All off this is in a kind of Bauhaus context, with design, art and culture all in the same continuum. It's an unusual approach."

Most recently, Judy was immersed in the Rutgers-Newark celebration of the centenary of James Joyce's birth. Part of the commemoration was a gallery exhibit of everything possible relating to Joyce, and that gallery is important because Rutgers-Newark had never had a gallery until Judy arrived. When she was teaching at Beaver College, she'd been deeply involved in shaping — there's that art term again — a new gallery there. And in fact, she went to Rutgers-Newark because she'd had experience "shaping new programs" and writing the grant proposals that are so important in any new program.

A Cities Person. "I'm a cities person," Judy explains with a broad smile, "and I like the city of Newark. There's a sense of involvement of the people there — there IS a place for Newark to go! And I've always been interested in the ways a university relates to an urban environment. Rutgers-Newark is an integral part of the change that's happening in Newark — the mix of art - academics - politics - neighborhood."

"And ours isn't the only institution, of course. There are so many cultural institutions in Newark! And they sweep the city with all kinds of cultural events, all the time. And it's a safer city than people realize: the Ironbound section — like Trenton's Chambersburg, only bigger — with all its exciting Portuguese and Spanish restaurants, is absolutely safe."

Evenings and week-ends there is the studio in the Brodsky's garage, where rakes and garden tools share space with Judy's press and the equipment of a working artist.

At "Morven" on Saturday, will be prints from Judy's series, done in the 1970s, based on the poems of her father, Israel J. Kapstein. The poems themselves are part of the series, because Judy has a keen interest in the look of print. And because the poems are representational with strong visual images, the prints are like that too.

Artist or Not? It was a question for a time whether Judy would pursue art or art history. At Radcliffe, in her undergraduate days, there was not the kind of design - liberal arts curriculum now available at Rutgers-Newark. So she majored in art history, specializing in late medieval and Renaissance art of northern Europe, and later in 18th century English satirical art — Hogarth, for example.

When she began thinking of graduate school, and whether to be an artist or an art historian, her husband, David, said, "You'll never know whether you are an artist until you try to do graduate work in a studio."

The answer is in the Fogg Museum of Harvard, the Library of Congress, the graphic arts collection of Princeton University, the U.S. Embassy in Japan, Rockefeller University and the other galleries where she is on permanent exhibition, and in commissions she has executed for the New Jersey State Museum, and other institutions, individuals and organizations.

Since 1974, when she joined several other women to organize a showcase exhibit in Philadelphia of the work of women artists, she has been closely associated with this movement.

"I'd thought it was enough to 'live' the women's movement, but organizing in that way was a very exciting thing, on both the intellectual and aesthetic level. It's important, in your work, to interact with other artists."

Judith and David Brodsky have lived in Princeton since 1955 — actually their first home was in Rocky Hill — and

Judy remembers "doing all the things you do when your kids are little," and she laughs again.

"I remember I was head of the League of Women Voters unit considering New Jersey's need for an income tax, and of course Dave was a member of the Princeton school board and we were active in the Jewish Center...."

She received that graduate degree in fine arts in 1967, by the way. She knows now that she is an artist.

Community Players' "Murder Among Friends" Features Fine Cast in Pleasing Tangle of Intrigue

It's a pleasure, every so often, to lose oneself in a tangle of intrigue, and that's just what Curt Hall's production of Bob Barry's "Murder Among Friends" enables you to do. And perhaps one of the attractions of such a play is that while engaging the audience's mind in a maze of plot, it never asks too much of you: It almost invariably escorts you, via twists and turns, out of the very labyrinth it erects.

Julia Poulos has directed the Princeton Community Players with a care for detail that is essential to this genre. Every lamp, ashtray, and shoebox has a capacity for significance in a thriller, and that goes for characters' slight changes in emotions too. The agent is jittery? We'd better watch him: it might not be for the reason we think.

The cast is uniformly fine in this production. The play revolves around Angela Forrester, the wealthy wife of actor Palmer Forrester. It is Celia Munro-Jones' task, as Angela, to create the most sympathetic and credible character in the group — and she pulls this off quite well.

Her husband, on the other hand, played with great relish by Steve Nelson, is self-absorbed and sinister and, most important, hidden under layer upon layer of masks, so that we're never sure who is prevents the play from being claustrophobic. Marshall Saldenberg (Paul Saunders) is a harmless and not terribly successful producer who is forthright enough to admit, repeatedly, that like the Forresters, he and his wife, Gertrude, also were not invited anywhere else to celebrate the New Year. As for Gertrude, played with wonderful acerbity by PCP newcomer Marjorie Duryea, she is the life of the party. Ms. Duryea makes us regret that playwright Barry didn't make greater use of such a marvelously bitchy character in his play.

to keep open the possibility that things could flip-flop yet again. This is unfortunate, because what one wants at the end of a thriller is a swift and decisive conclusion, a resolution that ties up the loose ends and leaves us with a sense of certainty much like that encountered at the end of another formulaic genre, romance.

"Murder Among Friends" continues at the PCP Playhouse at 171 Broadmead over the next two weekends. Why not bring a friend?
—Heller McAlpin

News Of The THEATRES

the real Palmer Forrester, or rather, with whom, if anyone, he is genuine.

What we are fairly certain of is that these two have been unhappily married for 15 years, that their staying together owes almost everything to Angela's money, and that Palmer's agent, Ted Cotton (Gregory Hall), and a blackmailer in Queens (Mike Spitz) have a good deal to do with the Forresters' schemes against one another.

The action takes place in the Forrester townhouse on New Year's Eve, which is apt, for the three pivotal leads are apparently all intent on starting a new (or at least an altered) life with the new year. It also gives cause for the presence of guests, which Lighting Effective. I mentioned earlier that the details in this production were well-managed. This applies not only to the acting, staging, and props, but also to Ed Lechner's townhouse set decorated with somewhat ghoulish posters of Palmer in "The Devil's Disciple," "Cyrano de Bergerac," and "Blithe Spirit," and to John Jones' and David Flingg's lighting. The interplay of darkness and light are crucial to the progress of a thriller, and particularly effective here are the garish bright lights, flashes of lightning (which one can unfortunately hear as they click on and off), flashlights in the dark, and the rosy hue in which Palmer likes to bathe.

"Murder Among Friends" is not exactly a whodunit but rather a who's-going-to-do-what — and why. It's a well-wrought work, with some good sharp one-liners and more than a few double entendres like, "I'm sure she'd rather see me dead than lose me," and "Palmer, you're so killing," (to which Palmer responds, "I hope so.") — so plot isn't absolutely everything.

Director Poulos manages to keep the audience on the edge of their seats — at least from the end of the first scene on — until the final twist. But her one questionable decision is the attempt to sustain the suspense a little longer by delaying the final curtain and the arrival of the police — as if

Two Vie for Township School Board Seat; No Contest in Borough for 3-Year Terms

Penelope Penningroth

"I could bring a different point of view to the school board, not only as a minority-group member, but as support for the growing number of people who are single parents, or in a home where both parents work. I would be a point of contact for people who, perhaps, don't now feel they can relate to the board" — Penelope Penningroth.

"Continuity on the board is important; only two people now on the board have had more years there than I. As head of the policy committee, I spent the summer working on the policy book. As a member of the program committee, I want to continue our thorough studies of proposed programs, and help with the consolidation of work we've done so far." — Artis Phillips.

In the only contest for a school board seat this year, incumbent Artis Phillips is campaigning for a second three-year term as a Township representative. Her challenger is Penelope Penningroth, who lost last year by seven votes.

There is no contest in the Borough. Ann McGoldrick has filed for a second three-year term. Joel Cooper has no opposition for a full three-year term. He is now filling out an unexpired term.

The election, to be held Tuesday, April 6, is also the time to vote on the school budget. Those who plan to be out of town, may obtain absentee ballot applications at any school. They must be sent to the county by Tuesday, March 30, and the county will then mail to the voter the actual ballot.

Those Budget Constraints. Mrs. Phillips points to budget problems as the main issue, and Mrs. Penningroth hopes the board will not make "false economies that would haunt us later."

Overall, Mrs. Phillips says, she hopes for a time of consolidation, after the shifts and changes involved in closing Johnson Park, renovating the high school and welcoming a new high-school principal.

The new, state-required Family Life Education program, to begin in the fall; a new Environmental Education curriculum in the upper elementary grades; the high school's shift to a semester plan and the increasing emphasis on making students "computer-efficient," will all need time to shake down, she believes.

"These are all exciting things, some still in the planning stages," she says. "I don't think we should spread ourselves any more until they have settled."

TOPICS

Of The Town

Become involved. Speaking of her own work on the USE committee, where she served on the re-districting subcommittee, Mrs. Penningroth says the board should make more effort to involve the public — non-parents, as well as parents.

It was the USE committee that studied the question of closing an elementary school, eventually Johnson Park. Mrs. Penningroth was involved in collecting data on the impact various scenarios would have — how many children would walk or go by bus, what walking routes would be, and so on.

Her professional experience includes fact-finding and interpretation of the statutes for the Department of the Public Advocate and the Division on Civil Rights. She is now with sonnet Department.

Excitement Ahead. "The next three years on the board will be very exciting," Mrs. Phillips predicts, "as the long-range planning committee completes its work. We have three buildings — Valley Road, Stony Brook and Johnson Park — whose futures we must determine. We are responsible to the taxpayers for the best possible use of all three.

"But I am concerned that we may, perhaps, have spent too little time on curriculum. As a member of the program committee, I want to follow through in this area."

Mrs. Phillips explains that proposed programs like a computer curriculum, or environmental studies, global history or the Hammondsport reading program in the elementary schools, come to the program committee, where they are "thoroughly studied." Only then, are the programs laid out in full before the whole board.

Reservations. Mrs. Penningroth approaches the future of those three buildings with caution.

"Our primary interest is education," she says. "We must be really careful about real estate. Yes, we need to generate income, but we need to think carefully before going into business ventures."

"We need to ask what kind of drain on our resources would it mean, if we were to become property managers."

To the Township voter, Mrs. Penningroth cites her professional expertise, her work on the USE committee, her active interest in board work and her "different background" as reasons to vote for her.

Mrs. Phillips refers to her three years' experience as a board member, her belief that continuity on the board is vital and her desire to help carry forward and consolidate programs now under development.

Former Alfred Foulet Home Damaged by Fire

ARSON INVESTIGATORS AT WORK: Princeton Fire Chief Ray Wadsworth (at right in white coat) and members of the Mercer County arson squad probe charred remains of gutted wing, searching for clues to the origin of Tuesday morning's fire in a Cherry Hill Road home.

The origin of the fire that partially destroyed the former Alfred Foulet colonial home at 181 Cherry Hill Road early Tuesday morning has been labeled "very suspicious" by Princeton Fire Chief Raymond Wadsworth and Mercer County fire investigators.

Now owned by Princeton University, the house has been vacant and is hoarded up. All three Princeton volunteer fire companies responded to the general alarm sounded at 5:30. The fire was brought under control at 7 and the estimated 98 firemen on the scene left at 8:25.

One small wing on the west side of the house was completely gutted and the rest of the interior sustained smoke and water damage. Chief Wadsworth reported that the structure would be restored by the university.

Although the university had earlier removed many valuable antiques from the home, Chief Wadsworth said that others were still inside when the fire occurred.

In a related incident, Township police last week arrested three men and charged them with trespassing on the property. Also charged with burglary and theft are John D. Bauer, 21, of Ewing Township; Alexander H. Dziwka, 20, and Clinton R. Eastmead, 19, both of Trenton. They were arrested last Wednesday morning at 10:45 by Pti. John Clausen on the grounds of the Foulet estate.

A further investigation revealed that the three appeared to have entered the home by removing a plywood barrier from a rear door. Police said that an antique marble table had been placed in the rear of a truck that had been driven up the narrow drive leading to the home. After being charged, the three suspects were released in their own recognizance. They are scheduled to appear in Township court this Wednesday evening.

"A Helluva Stap." "When I first pulled in the wing was all gone and I thought we were going to lose the whole house," commented Chief Wadsworth. "The guys put one helluva stop on it."

"You don't like to brag but I'm proud of what we did...at that time of the morning plus the nearest hydrant being a mile away. Those guys did a helluva job."

With the nearest fire hydrant located next to the Unitarian Church, Chief Wadsworth estimated that firemen had to lay one mile of fire hoses before they could reach the burning house which sits back some 400 feet from the Cherry Hill roadway.

After firemen had departed, Chief Wadsworth, Mercer County Fire Marshall Joe Linhardt and members of the Mercer County arson squad poked through the smoldering ruins on the side of the house where the fire apparently started looking for clues. Also taking part in the investigation which is continuing is Lt. Norman Servis of the Township police.

The fire was discovered by Township police on patrol who noticed flames in the woods on the east side of Cherry Hill road. Investigating, the officers discovered the Foulet house engulfed in flames and called for a general alarm.

CAR IS TOTALLED

In Harrison Bridge Mishap. The 1969 sedan of Sharon M. Cypress, Applegarth Road, Cranbury, was a total loss after it struck a cement pillar Sunday night while Ms. Cypress was attempting to cross the Harrison Street Bridge. She was treated at Princeton Medical Center for lacerations of the head and face.

Ms. Cypress, 26, told Ptl. John Petrone Jr. that another car, coming in the opposite direction, was partially in her lane. Her car moved too close to the side rail and struck the pillar. There were no charges following the 8:20 accident.

Unfamiliarity with the approach to the same bridge led to a two-car accident last Wednesday between two out-of-state drivers.

According to the police investigation, Mary R. Schott, 34, of Baldwinsville, N.Y. swerved to the right to avoid a car coming in the opposite direction which she perceived to be crossing into her lane. The right front tire of her VW van first struck the nine-inch curbing near the point where the Harrison Street roadway enters the bridge.

The car then crossed the center line and struck the sports car of Douglas R. Malcolm, 23, of Canton, Ohio, head-on, "totalling" it. Both drivers were treated at Princeton Medical Center following the accident. Ms. Schott for chest contusions and Mr. Malcolm for lacerations and contusions of the legs.

There were no charges by Ptl. Virgil Angelini. He noted in his report that the Harrison Street roadway narrows as it enters the bridge and the cement curbing at the approach further reduced the width of the roadway.

Car, Motorcycle Collide. A car and a motorcycle collided early Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Rosedale Road and Rosedale Lane.

The cyclist, 60-year old Robert M. Trebil of Trenton was transported to Mercer Medical Center for treatment of lower leg injuries. Police charged the driver, David G. Christie, 51, 43 Rosedale Lane, with improperly entering a highway.

Police said that the Christie car was stopped on Rosedale Lane attempting to turn left onto Rosedale Road when it failed to yield to the motorcycle. Police said that the cyclist left approximately 25 feet of skid marks prior to the point of impact.

MONEY IS STOLEN

At Craft Cleaners. Five envelopes containing money were stolen last week from Craft Cleaners, 225 Nassau Street.

Police said that one envelope containing $468 — the previous day's receipts — and four petty cash envelopes containing $15 each are missing. Someone broke a window, reached in and unlocked it, to gain entry between 5:30 p.m. and 7:20 the following morning. The interior had been searched, police said.

Two locked offices at the YWCA were entered between 5 Friday afternoon and 9:30 Monday morning, but police report no signs of any forced entry.

Taken from a bookkeeping office was an adding machine and calculator valued at $150; from a second office, a $48 calculator and a brass clock.

Between Thursday afternoon and 5:15 Saturday afternoon, a thief entered a student's office in Eno Hall on the Princeton University campus and took an AM-FM stereo unit valued at $107. There was no forced entry.

An unknown amount of silverware was stolen Monday from a dining room cabinet in a Princeton-Kingston Road home. Police said that the entry took place between 1 and 5 p.m. when the house was vacant and the front door unlocked. Ptl. James Vandermark investigated.

BIKE THEFTS

From $20 to $364. A three-speed bicycle "in poor shape" valued at $20 and a 12-speed Trek touring bike valued at $364.95 were among bicycles reported stolen last week by police.

The unlocked $20 bike was taken from the rear yard of a Prospect Avenue home, while a thief cut through a cable lock to steal the expensive Trek bike which was secured to a rack in an archway at Pyne Hall on the university campus. The victim is a university student.

Two bicycles and 12 pieces of white wicker furniture were stolen from the front porch of a Lawrenceville Road home where they had been stored. Township police received a report of the theft last week.

A 12-year-old student stopped in the deli store at 236 Nassau Street last week and laid his clarinet case down. Police said he forgot to take it with him when he left and his tan case and $250 LaFleur clarinet haven't been seen since.

A Westminster Choir College student lost a $150 cassette recorder and 24 cassette tapes valued at $10 each when someone removed them from the trunk of her car which was parked in a school lot. No forced entry, police say.

A Skillman resident will have to get out and open her garage door, after a thief stole her remote control unit for her electric garage door from her Jeep while it was parked in the PST lot off Hulfish Street last week.

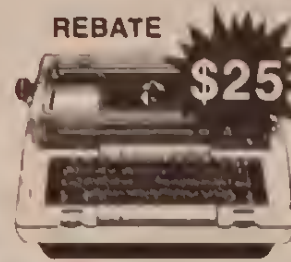

HAND GRENADE FOUND
In Route 206 Ditch. An olive drab World War II fragmentation-type hand grenade with its pin in place was found Saturday afternoon by a Witherspoon Street driver on Route 206. Chief Frederick Porter said this week that he was at a loss to explain how it got there.

The driver, Chris Canfield, brought the grenade to police headquarters at 2:20 in the afternoon. He told the deskman Ptl. Renn Kaminski that he had stopped his car on Route 206 opposite Ewing Street to check a noise when he noticed the grenade lying in a ditch beside the road.

Police locked the grenade in a cell for safe keeping and called the 60th Ordinance Explosive and Bomb Disposal unit at Fort Dix. Members of the unit arrived at 4 p.m. and took the Mark II grenade to

DRIVER SOUGHT
In Lewdness Complaint. A man driving a black Mustang is being sought by Township police in connection with a lewdness incident involving a 17-year-old girl.
Police said that the victim, a Riverside Drive resident, was at the intersection of Riverside and Lake Drive Sunday when the suspect stopped and asked her for directions. Police said that after he had received the information, he leaned back and the girl noticed that his trousers were pulled down below his knees.
The suspect, described as a white male in his early 20s with medium-length light brown hair parted in the middle, then drove off in the direction of Nassau Street. His Mustang was described as an early 70's model with a red stripe and bore blue N.J. license plates.

TWO LOSE LICENSES
For Drunk Driving. Two Princeton area residents have had their licenses suspended in Borough traffic court for drunken driving.

Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. on Monday suspended the license of Forrest Greswold, 167A Ewing Street, for 120 days and that of Lori Jenso, Friendship Road, Cranbury, for six months. Each was also fined $265.
Five were fined for red light violations. Laurent Sidon, 74 Allison Road; James S. Brown, 63 Hamilton Lane, Plainsboro; John R. Powell, 43-11 Hunters Glen Drive, Plainsboro, and Brenda Brown, 72 S. Main Street, Cranbury, all paid $20, while Miroslav Czarny 26-10 Hunters Glen Drive, Plainsboro, was fined $15. Claudio DeAngelo, 178 Linden Lane, paid $30, and Edouard Nelson, 240 John Street, $35, for careless driving.

Others: Gregory Burdwood, 40 Mopie Street, $35, failure to give proper signal; Noreen Tomossi, RD4 Princeton, $33, speeding; Brian Goodrich, 580 Lincoln Highway, $25, improper turn; Gilbert McKenzie, 453 Walnut Lane, $35, failure to yield right of way; Sky Promotions, 169 Nassau Street, $20, no name and address on commercial vehicle, and Carol S. Taho, 881 Mt. Lucas Road, $20, speeding.

In Township court last week, Reuven K. Snydermon, 24 Bricourt Drive, and Mino I. Ostroienk, 201 Ewing Street, were fined $30 and $40 respectively for stop sign infractions.

LAWN IS DAMAGED
By Car on Jefferson. Approximately 30 yards of lawn and shrubbery of a Jefferson Road home were damaged at 6:30 Thursday morning by vehicle tracks.
Police said that there was evidence of skid marks where a car left the roadway before traveling across the lawn. Pti. Mark Emmnn investigated.

ANNIVERSARY SET
By Littlebrook School. In the 25 years since Littlebrook School first opened its doors, it has educated more than 3,000 Princeton youngsters from kindergarten through fifth grade. The week of March 29 to April 2, the school is celebrating its 25th anniversary with songs, displays and refreshments.

Littlebrook was the first of three elementary schools Princeton Township School Board built to relieve the overcrowding in Valley Road and Stony Brook schools as post war families boomed. In 1956 there were 587 students registered at the new school, compared to 307 this year.

While preparing a display comparing class sizes, Mrs. Van Ness's kindergarten class discovered there were many more children in the younger classes in the early days. There were 124 kindergarteners keeping three classroom teachers busy morning and afternoon in 1956. In 1981 there were only 38 kindergarteners.
The bulge of growing classroom needs had just begun in 1956. There were just

Township Committee Agrees to 2 Budget Concessions To Aid Hazardous Route Busing and Turning Basin Park

By rallying a body of supporters, and presenting arguments in a cogent, but cooperative manner, two different citizens groups won budgetary concessions from the Township Committee last Wednesday. The agenda included the public hearing on the 1982 budget and the adoption of an ordinance for the development of Turning Basin Park.

Parents and school board members achieved a "commitment" of the additional $5,000 needed to continue hazardous route busing to December 31, 1982. Township Committee had already allocated $15,245 in the budget for calendar year 1982, which included $10,000 previously committed for the school year 1981-82.

In its budget discussions, Committee members had decided to contribute another $5,000, but no more, toward the busing of elementary school children from areas along roads that are considered dangerous for walking or bicycling.

School board member Ann McGoldrick led the appeal to Township Committee to reconsider its position. She suggested if the Board took on the whole responsibility for hazardous route busing, as Committee has indicated it thinks the Board ought to, that the municipality then should return $20,00 in other services to the Board. "It all comes down to the taxpayer in the end in either case," Committeeman George Adrianee reminded her.

Fixing The Roads. Michael Tomlin, also a School Board member, suggested that for a "relatively modest" capital expenditure on the part of the Township, some of the routes could be fixed up and removed from the "hazardous" category. He cited Mountain Avenue as an example.

Nancy Nygren told Committee that her neighbors do not want a sidewalk along Cherry Valley Road and that even those without children supported hazardous route busing. She called attention to the number of accidents on that road "every time it snows," and said "without busing people won't want to move into the area."

There was a discussion of whether parents could legally contribute to a fund to pay for the service (legally they can, according to Township Attorney Edwin Schmierer), and Mrs. Nygren raised the question of parents in non-hazardous route areas might also then be required to pay for school crossing guards.

"I was here a year ago on this very same problem," said

Evelyn Harrie of Autumn Hill Road. "Why hasn't a solution been worked out?"

On that note, Committeewoman Gail Firestone moved to commit the requested $5,000, and Mr. Adrianee added to her motion the suggestion that a permanent solution be worked out. Whether this solution would be the task of the Ad Hoc Committee, or the Township-Board of Education Liason Committee in consultation with the Township Traffic Safety Committee was unclear.

In expressing her appreciation for Committee's action, Mrs. McGoldrick pledged the Board's full cooperation in seeking a solution to this perennial problem.

The allocation of $184,500 in capital funds, of which close to half would be repaid by the state with Green Acres monies, for the development of Turning Basin Park was the other item of citizen interest on the agenda. The project had been approved by the state, but needed the adoption of the appropriating ordinance before bids could be let and work begin.

In an earlier discussion, Committee members had been inclined not to develop the park, even though Green Acres funds were available because the maintenance costs for the park would come to $7,000 a year. Moreover, these expenses would come under the "cap" law.

Mayor Winthrop Pike opened the discussion with the good news that the Borough Council had agreed to contribute $2,000 per annum toward the $7,000 maintenance costs. Moreover, Committee had received letters from the Environmental Commission and the Shade Tree Commissioner suggesting ways to economize on the project by reducing the scope and staging of the development. One suggestion was to delay the dredging of the turning basin until after the Delaware-Raritan Canal dredging project is complete.

Peggy McNeill of the Environmental Commission told Committee that her group was actively looking for private donations for the project.

Land Might Revert. James Sayen, a member of the Environmental Commission and the Delaware-Raritan Canal Commission pointed out that Turning Basin Park would be the only "water-oriented" facility in the community and would be heavily used by fishermen and for family picnics as well as by canoers. He reminded Committee that $170,000 had already been spent in acquiring the land and that the University gave a portion of its land to the park specifically for recreation purposes. If that land is not developed for that purpose, he said, the University might well claim it back.

Philetus Hottel, president of the Historical Society, spoke to the value of the project from an historical point of view. Since 1973, the Historical Society and its Revolving Preservation Fund has preserved and restored a number of properties in the area which in the 1830's was a thriving waterway for mule-drawn barges. He announced a gift of $1,000 to the Borough and $1,000 to the Township to fund a portion of the first year's maintenance costs for each municipality.

Committee decided to go ahead with the ordinance as written, appropriating the full amount, but with the understanding that the picnic and parking and boat launch areas on the part of the park that is west of Alexander Road, plus a narrow strip along the east side be developed initially. An extension for the further development of the east side, which includes the turning basin, will be requested from the state.

Committee adopted its 1982 budget totalling more than $6 million with $2.1 million to be raised by taxes. The estimated tax rate for municipal purposes is 34 cents per $100 of assessed valuation as compared to 30 cents in 1981.

Added to the 85 cents estimated for the county tax rate and an estimated $1.06 in the school tax rate, the 1982 estimated total tax rate comes to $2.25, an increase of 8.2 percent over last year's $2.08.

over 70 fifth graders in the opening days, as there are today.

The Parent-Teacher Organization is holding open house all week from 9 to 11. More than 200 invitations have been sent to families of students from the early days, staff and community founders. The evening of April 1, the school chorus under the direction of Marilyn Middlebrook will sing hits from Broadway musicals of 1956, including the "King and I" and "My Fair Lady." Afterwards a reunion is scheduled in the school library.

Margaret Pazdan, currently Littlebrook's school nurse and a veteran of planning Princeton school reunions from her work with the Princeton High School class of 1941, has spent hours on the phone tracking the paths of early students. Pat Sullivan, a recently retired teacher of 24 years at Littlebrook recalled many of the former staff.

But the PTO committee knows it didn't reach everyone. Those who would like to join in remembering a bit of Princeton's living history, please phone the school office, 924-5600.

ARTISTS TO USE GYM?
PAA Keenly Interested.
The Princeton Art Association may become a tenant of the Borough and share the Borough Hall Gym with the Princeton Senior Citizens Club.

It depends on whether Mercer County agrees, and so far, the Senior Citizens Club hasn't definitely said "yes." But Borough Council member Robert McChesney said he is optimistic that an agreement can be reached.

The basic problem, of course, is money. The Borough already has the $50,000 provided by the county for Phase II of the gym remodeling project: insulating the roof, finishing the exteriors, replacing some windows with insulating panels.

What the Borough does not have, is an agreement with the Senior Citizens or even a plan of its own, for operating the building after the first year. The seniors have the money, estimated at $10,000 to $15,000, for the first year. But after that, what?

The Art Association would love to use the big, spacious gym for its classes. Mary Ward, executive director of the PAA, met with Mr. McChesney and representatives of the Senior Citizens Club, and everyone seemed to think PAA sub-letting would be a fine idea.

Under terms of the county grant, however, the building must have a full-time paid director, and he used entirely for senior citizen programs. Mr. McChesney points out that the term "senior citizen program" hasn't been fully defined. The PAA does have art classes for seniors.

If the county will not allow the PAA to sub-let, Mr. Mc-

Chesney suggests that the Borough might simply designate less space in the gym for the seniors and accept less than the $50,000 from the county.

"It is very desirable to have the gym used for the senior citizens," Mr. McChesney feels. "The problem is operating and funding."

ADDITION PLANNED To Jewish Center. The Jewish Center will come before the Borough Zoning Board this Thursday at 7:30 for a "conditional" use authorization to build additions to the Center which will double its space. A variance is needed because the addition will extend to 40 feet from the east side property line, 10 feet over the 50-foot side yard setback allowance.

Designed by Abraham Goodman, an architect from Linden, the new construction will wrap around three sides of the Jewish Center, but not on the west, where the building is already 10 feet over the setback.

According to Dr. Zola Horowitz, the project includes remodeling as well as new construction and is designed to create more space for the religious school and for the sanctuary. If the necessary variance is granted, the Center hopes to break ground for the project this summer, he said.

BIKESSOUGHT
As Bike Use if Promoted. In keeping with its philosophy of promoting bike riding, the Princeton Bicycle Use Committee (PBUC) has loaned three bicycles to students at the university who need them and seeks additional bicycles to lend.

Donald Fox, co-chairman of the PBUC, says he got the idea from Mayor Koch, who came back to New York City from China very impressed with the number of bicycles in Peking. "It seemed natural to start with the Chinese students and visiting fellows at the university. Some of them are on very tight budgets and cannot afford to buy a second-hand bike," he explained.

"Working with Paula Chow of the International Center at Princeton," Donald added, "we hope to branch out, once we get more old bicycles, and lend them to bikeless students from other nations."

The first bicycle lent in this new program belonged to Keeper of Princetoniana, Frederic Fox, Donald's late father. It has been lent to Mr. Zheng Gao, a visiting fellow in the Mechanical and Aerospace Department of the Engineering School.

Mr. Yulin Lu, a visiting fellow in the engineering school, and Miss Yu-ping Sun, a freshman, were also lent bicycles by the PBUC for the duration of their studies at Princeton. The Bicycle Use Committee has produced a bicycle map of Princeton and intends to continue to promote bicycle use. "We hope to see many bikes now lying unused in basements of garages rolling once again around town," Mr. Fox commented.

Those who have an old bike for the committee to lend may call Donald Fox, co-chairman PBUC, at 924-9316 or Elizabeth Eisenstadt, Transportation Co-ordinator, at 921-6162.

FOOT CARE TOPIC
Of South Brunswick Discussion. "Everything You Wanted to Know about Your Feet and Didn't Know Whom to Ask" will be the topic of a program to be presented at the South Brunswick Public Library on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Podiatrist Nancy Sierra, will discuss foot care, including health hints for younger and older persons, athletes and diabetics.

Dr. Sierra is a magna cum laude graduate of New York College of Podiatric Medicine. She served a residency in Podiatric surgery at Tri-County Hospital in Springfield, Pa. She currently practices in Kendall Park.

Admission is free and everyone is welcome. Pre-registration is necessary to insure that the lecture will not be cancelled. To sign up call the library at (201) 821-8224.

31 GRADUATE
From Practical Nursing School. Thirty-one young women from 18 New Jersey communities and from the State of Pennsylvania were graduated from Princeton Medical Center School of Practical Nursing in ceremonies at Westminster Choir College.

Dennis W. Doody, president of the Medical Center, presided. The address to the graduates was given by Harvey D. Rothberg, M.D. A member of the attending staff and chairman of the nursing committee at the Medical Center, Dr. Rothberg has also served as president of the Medical and Dental Staff.

Invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Darryl Baker, assistant Medical Center chaplain. Greetings were extended by Mr. Doody, Dr. Fong Wei, president of the Medical and Dental Staff, and Elizabeth Buff, vice president of Nursing. The graduates were presented for awards and diplomas by Jean A. Alito, director of the School of Practical Nursing.

What About My Waistline?
Two new culinary delights have made their appearances at Witherspoon Street establishments.
In celebration of its second anniversary, Mykonos, 22 Witherspoon, has introduced a Gyros sandwich — well-known, says owner George Manolakis, to tourists in Greece and popular in big cities in this country. "We're the first ones to bring this Greek sandwich to Princeton," he said.
A Gyros consists of thinly-sliced, spiced, pressed chopped meat covered with lettuce, tomato, onions and a white yogurt sauce (tzatziki) on a pita bread roll. Mykonos makes its own pita bread.
The Gyros costs $2.50 — "a good price," says Manolakis.
Further down the street at Cafe au Lait, 66 Witherspoon, owner Karla Jones has introduced the newest member to her renowned family of cheesecakes.
Described as "the ultimate cheesecake," Princeton Cheesecake is a dense, bittersweet chocolate creation, blended with Curacao — an orange liqueur. It has a chocolate crust and is garnished with orange rind. Tastefully orange and black, one slice and you'll purr like a Tiger, notes Ms. Jones. Definitely, she adds, not for the palate content with mediocrity.
In a few months, Ms. Jones reports, other restaurants and gourmet shops in the area will be carrying Cafe au Lait's line of cheesecakes and other desserts.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS SET
During School Vacation. The Public Library has arranged special programs for children of all ages during spring vacation.
Creative Theatre Unlimited's Performance Troupe will present "It's Greek to Me," a play for children ages 8 and up on Tuesday, April 6 at 3:30. The stories for the production are adapted from Greek myths. Free tickets are available at the Children's Desk.
"Black Beauty," a feature length film, will be shown on Wednesday, April 7 at 10:30 and again at 3:30. Suggested for children ages six and up, this classic children's story is based on the book by Anna Sewell. Free tickets are available at the children's desk on a first-come, first-served basis.
"Nebuse" and "Many Moons," two short films for preschool age children will be shown at 3:30 on Thursday, April 8. Tickets are not required.

DUBROVSKY TO RUN
For Freeholder, Gertrude Dubrovsky, 244 Hawthorne, announced this week that she will run for the county Freeholder's seat that will be vacated by Barbara Sigmund, who is running for Congress.
In 1974, Ms. Dubrovsky ran in the Democratic Congressional primary on a platform devoted to minority and women's issues, the situation of elderly citizens and what she has called "the repressive atmosphere after the Vietnam War."
"Freeholders determine where and how county tax dollars are spent," she declared in a statement. "As Federal cuts begin to sink in more deeply, human service programs will be in serious jeopardy. Ms. Dubrovsky has served on the Princeton Borough municipal committee of the Democratic party, and is a member of the Mercer County Democratic Committee.

SUMMER PROGRAMS SET
By Recreation Department. The Princeton Recreation Department will conduct a six-week summer playground program at the Valley Road Field.

This centralized program will replace the playground program with an expanded variety of activities in sports, games, special events, arts and crafts. It will begin June 28 and will be held Monday through Friday from 9 to 3.

Boys and girls from the Borough and Township entering the first through the sixth grades as of September 1982 are eligible to participate. Children should bring a lunch and beverage.

Attendance will be taken each morning, and no child under ten will be permitted to leave early without permission from a parent or guardian. In case of rain, the program will move in the Valley Road gymnasium.

The cost for the six weeks is $30 per child. Parents are urged to call the recreation office at 921-9480 to register their children before April 16. If there is not sufficient interest to support the program, it will not be conducted.

In addition, the Recreation Department will host several two-week sport camps. Sessions will be held from June 28 to July 9; July 12-23; July 26 to August 6; and August 9-20.

The camps are available to those entering grades four through twelve. Each camp will be divided by grade level: fourth, fifth, and sixth grades; seventh and eighth grades; and grades nine through twelve. Proposed camps include baseball, softball, lacrosse, basketball, track, soccer, and wrestling. The fee for each camp is $25.

The Sport Camp will have the same pre-registration policy as the centralized playground program. The number registered by April 16 will determine whether or not that particular sports camp will be conducted.

FREE GARDEN SITES
For Green Thumbs. The Princeton Recreation Department is accepting registrations for 10' by 15' garden sites located at the Princeton Shopping Center and behind Tiger Garage.

The sites are open to Borough and Township residents on a "first come, first serve" basis. There is a limit of one site per gardener. Call 921-9480 or stop in the recreation office to register for your site.

OPPORTUNITIES LISTED
In YWCA Summer Camps. This summer the YWCA will again offer a full range of camping experiences for youngsters ages 4 through 16, available in a variety of combinations. One may choose a full-time camping experience or program for one or more days each week.

The Summer Day Camp offers girls in kindergarten through 5th grade a five-day-per-week summer camping experience. Held on the campus of the Stuart Country Day School, the camp provides a wide program of arts, crafts, music, environmental awareness, athletics, dance and drama. Each day the children are brought back to the YWCA for Red Cross instructional swimming classes.

The day camp for girls is held from 8:45 to 4 daily, and after camp care is available from 4 to 5:30 to care for children of working parents.

Girls Activity Camp is an all-day program for girls 11-13. Activities will include arts and crafts, swimming, games, gymnastics, cooking, cook-outs, day trips, films and sports.

Younger boys and girls age 4 and 5 have an opportunity to test the camping experience at Kiddy Corral or Kiddy Recreational Camp. Held on Tuesday and Thursday, Kiddy Corral campers spend the mornings participating in arts and crafts, free play, outdoor and indoor games, music and stories. Kiddy Recreation Camp is designed to teach games, movement exploration, gymnastic skills and fun with recreational swimming. By combining the two camps, the children are able to have five mornings each week or select any combination of days to suit their schedules.

Girls interested in developing gymnastic skills can enroll in the Summer Gymnastics Clinic for girls age 6 to 12 which offers instruction on all four Olympic Events and is held Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 1 to 3 p.m.

The YWCA Princeton Co-Ed Sports Camp offers boys and girls age 6 to 14 a variety of team sports, swimming and gymnastics five days each week for 8 weeks. This camp is a full-day five days per week camp beginning at 8:45 and ending at 4, and stresses the importance of team spirit, cooperation and sportsmanship while improving skills in a wide range of sports activities. After camp care is also available for children of working parents.

Now this summer is a special outing experience for teen boys and girls age 12-16 who are interested in outdoor recreation such as canoeing, backpacking, one-day hikes, overnight camping trips, conservation and ecology. A meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 14 at 7 at the YMCA-YWCA to discuss the trips to be planned.

Registration for all of the YWCA summer camping programs begins on Saturday, March 20. All the camps begin on Monday, June 28. For session information, fees and details, call the Princeton YWCA, 924-5571.

CANOE TRIP PLANNED

In Pine Barrens. The Princeton Education Center, together with the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, will conduct a "Pine Barrens Canoe Trip: In Search of the Jersey Devil," Friday through Sunday, April 16-18.

Participants will meet at the Watersheds Headquarters on Titus Mill Road, Pennington, at 7 p.m. and return by 5 on Sunday. The group will camp at the Atsion Lake Campground in Wharton State Forest on Friday and on Saturday will divide into two groups to canoe the Mullica and Batsto Rivers. Camping that night will be at river campgrounds.

All camping will be at primitive campsites. The remainder of the respective canoe trips will continue on Sunday to take-out sites at Batsto Village and Batsto Lake. If time allows on Sunday, the return trip to the Watersheds Association Headquarters will take in additional points of interest in the Pine Barrens, with Apple Pie Hill as the highlight.

In preparation for the trip, John McPhee will meet with the participants and staff on Wednesday, April 14, at 8. The author of "The Pine Barrens" will read selections from his book and entertain questions. A slide show is also scheduled.

All canoeing equipment will be furnished. Participants are encouraged to bring their own sleeping bags and tents, although these can be rented for a nominal fee. There will be a total of 14 canoes, allowing space for 24 participants and four staff. Children must be 12 years old, and those between 12 and 18 must be accompanied by an adult.

The fee assessed each person covers transportation, canoeing equipment, food (3 meals on Saturday, 2 on Sunday) and experienced guides. A reduced rate is charged for each additional family member.

Registration and a deposit are required by April 8. For more information, call Pam Paquette of the Watersheds Association at 737-3735.

SEEDLINGS PLANTED

On Honey Lake Dam. Boy Scouts from Troop 27, Lawrenceville, and students from Hopewell Valley Central High School helped the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association plant 1200 willow tree seedlings on the dam at Honey Lake.

The dam, which crosses Honey Brook, a Stony Brook tributary, has been maintained by the Watersheds Association since its construction as part of the Association's Carnegie Lake silt control program.

The 1200 willow tree seedlings were planted on the earthen dam to prevent its erosion. The seedlings are expected to grow two to four feet in two years and will reach a maximum height of 10 to 20 feet in five to seven years. The extensive root system will hold soil, and thus prevent erosion, which will help maintain the integrity of the dam.

The willows are being employed as conservation tools instead of undertaking a costly rip-rap program which would require putting heavy stones on the face of the dam with mechanical equipment.

WORKSHOP PLANNED

On Bread Dough Craft. A workshop on bread dough craft will be held at the South Brunswick Public Library on Tuesday from 7:30 to 9. Participants will use simple ingredients, including flour and salt, to create decorative miniatures.

There will be a materials cost of $3, and pre-registration is necessary. This class will be subject to cancellation if there is insufficient registration. Persons wishing to sign up should call the library at (201) 821-8224.

TWO APPOINTED

To Hazardous Waste Program. Two leading scientists in the field of environmental health have been appointed as co-directors of Princeton University's Hazardous Waste Management Program. They are Robert H. Harris, a former member of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, and Joseph H. Highland of the Environmental Defense Fund.

The Hazardous Waste Management Program was established in 1979 as part of the university's Center for Energy and Environmental Studies. It takes a multidisciplinary approach to the problems of waste abatement and control, focusing on such issues as the siting of waste disposal facilities, institutional ways of reducing toxic pollutants, and the chemistry of pollution.

Mr. Harris was a member from 1979 to 1981 of the Council on Environmental Quality, which advises the president on matters affecting the environment. His areas of supervision included environmental health and toxic chemicals, pollution control and economics, environmental data and monitoring, and energy production. Prior to joining the CEQ he was associate director for six years of the Toxic Chemicals Program of the Environmental Defense Fund.

Mr. Harris earned an M.S. in environmental health engineering in 1965 from the California Institute of Technology and a Ph.D. in environmental sciences and engineering in 1971 from Harvard University. He has been a visiting associate research biochemist at the University of California at Berkeley (1978-79) and an assistant professor of civil engineering at the University of Maryland (1971-73). He is the co-author of "Malignant Neglect" (Alfred Knopf, 1979) and the author or co-author of many articles on water pollution and related topics.

Mr. Highland has been chairman since 1975 of the Toxic Chemicals Program of the Environmental Defense Fund. A 1966 graduate of Hofstra University (B.A., chemistry and biology) he received his Ph.D. in biochemistry in 1971 from the University of Minnesota. Prior to his appointment with the Environmental Defense Fund he was a staff fellow at the National Cancer Institute (1974-75) and a staff member of Ralph Nader's Public Interest Research Group.

Current studies underway in the Hazardous Waste Management Program include the political process of siting waste disposal Aging Parent?

To the Editor of Town Topics:
As Director of the Senior Resource Center for the past several years I have become aware of a very pressing need. There are increasing numbers of persons who have become responsible for aging parents or relatives and are in need of emotional and practical support. There are often many urgent questions and decisions and somehow nowhere to turn. I would like to draw attention to an excellent program which will focus on some of these issues of aging. The YWCA will be offering two programs Wednesday April 19th and 26th at 7:30 p.m. I can only suggest that those people responsible for elderly parents take advantage of this opportunity to share feelings and experiences which can often lead to concrete solutions.

In addition, as an outgrowth of these two sessions to be held at the "Y" perhaps a self-help group might evolve. All that is necessary is someone who would be willing to act as coordinator, schedule regular meetings and help get the group organized.

Then they would be on their own to establish a network which would serve their specific needs. The Princeton Senior Resource Center can provide a well-located meeting place at Spruce Circle with facilities for refreshments. We can also help provide the group with support in the way of resource persons with expertise in aging.

I will be attending the two Wednesday night meetings in April and hope to find some interest in helping others help themselves.

JOCELYN B. HELM,
DIRECTOR
PRINCETON SENIOR
RESOURCE CENTER

Wasteful Expense.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
A public meeting of the Borough Council was held last Thursday to discuss whether a special bond should be issued in the amount of more than a hundred thousand dollars to pay for developing just a plan for the proposed municipal parking garage which almost all present at the public hearing did not want.

Repeatedly an effort was made to link the garage issue to the separate issue of building on Palmer Square an apartment complex for housing the elderly. The answer to a question from the floor as to whether a law or regulation exists requiring that garages be built with the housing brought out that the law does not specify by any means the provision for building a garage. Thus, rejection of the bond for planning a garage in no way means rejection of apartment housing.

It had been argued earlier in the meeting that with the Collins garage scheduled to go up, there is no need for another garage. This is true. Let us see what the situation will be when the other buildings have been finished. At the present, any expense for planning a garage would be wasteful and irresponsible.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
In Preston Eckmeyer's article in the March 10, 1982 issue of Town Topics it is stated that "no Princeton High School basketball team has ever advanced beyond the second round in state tournament play."

This statement is untrue. In the 1951-52 season the "Little Tigers" went all the way to the finals. The game was played in the Elizabeth Armory against Hackensack. Unfortunately, P.H.S. lost the game and the state championship.

The team consisted of the following players: coach Joe Drulis, captain Clyde "Buster" Thomas, forward Tom Perks, guard Harry Kahny and guard Freddie Wilson. Subs were Charles "Bucky" Osborn and Walter Wells.

LET'S
IF TREES AND SHRUBS COULD TALK
with Sam De Turo
Woodwinds Associates

If your trees and shrubs could talk, they would tell you how difficult it is growing up in our modern world, how they need your help to ward off insects and damaging disease, how air pollution makes it difficult for them to breathe. They would ask for a good, long drink of life-saving water during the hot summer months.

They would tell you of the wounds they've received from trucks that passed too close, or wind that blew too strongly, or frost that bit too deep. They would ask that you rid their foliage of unsightly dead branches and prune out those that weaken them or force them to grow ungainly or deformed.

And they would have every right to ask.

Think of the vital oxygen they give you, how they freshen your air, how they cool you in summer and warm you in winter, how they help filter dust and pollen. Think how they gently strong winds, how they shelter you and give you restful shade. Your trees absorb the noise from a busy street and give you privacy. Consider their color, the flowers they give, their beautiful shapes, how they please the eye and provide sanctuary for birds and chipmunks.

Your trees ask so little, yet give so much.

TREES need pruning, spraying, the proper amount of moisture and other protection to insure the fact that they will continue to thrive. You should see to it that they get the attention that they need. Your local arborist is familiar with local problems. If you can't handle the problems your trees have, call in a professional, just like you would call your doctor. PREVENTION is the best medicine.

WOODWINDS IS HAPPY TO ANSWER ANY QUESTIONS CONCERNING ALL YOUR VALUABLE TREES AND SHRUBS. Call us at 924-3500.

facilities, the reduction of toxic residuals in chemical manufacturing, the physical integrity of "secure" chemical landfills in New Jersey, the creation of tax mechanisms for reducing illegal waste disposal, and the physical processes by which pollutants leach into ground water.

The program is chiefly funded by grants from foundations and private industry.

YWCA PLANS SESSION
On Cosmetic Surgery. The Princeton YWCA will present Marc Drimmer, M.D., board certified plastic surgeon; and Jerry Kanter, M.D., clinical psychiatrist, Thursday, March 25, at 7:30 in a discussion of the medical and psychological aspects of reconstructive and cosmetic surgery. The session, to be held at the YM-YWCA, is open to the public at a fee of $5 at the door and $4 with pre-registration.

Dr. Drimmer will explain what plastic-cosmetic surgery is, who is most likely to benefit from this type of surgery, what the realistic and unrealistic expectations are for reconstructive surgery, and some of the possible complications that can arise.

When a person changes his or her outward appearance, what are the changes that occur inside that person? Dr. Kanter will explore these changes as well as discussing the realistic and unrealistic expectations which arise when a person alters his outward appearance. He will also explain how to decide whether to go for counseling prior to surgery and if so, how to choose a therapist.

Both Dr. Drimmer and Dr. Kanter are physicians with practices in Princeton. Their addresses will be followed by a slide presentation and question and answer period. To register, call the YWCA, 924-5571.

BASKETBALL BENEFIT
For Cystic Fibrosis. The Hun School will sponsor faculty-student basketball games for the benefit of the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation on Friday in the school gymnasium.

A preliminary game at 6:30 between the middle school faculty and students will be followed at 8 by a game between upper school faculty and

A Winning Beard

Will Nebstedt's whiskers grew .038 inches a day between February 1 and St. Patrick's Day, making him the winner and new champion in the Alchemist and Barrister's annual Beard-Growing Contest. (That's 1.75 inches of beard, according to an audited measurement made St. P's Day by barbers at One Cut Beyond.)

Mr. Nebstedt's feat, or rather his beard, made The Association for the Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped $1,030 richer because owners of the Alchemist and Barrister Restaurant — Jake and Tom Schmierer — held the contest to raise money for the agency. Last year's beard money went to the Princeton Nursery School.

To enter, you had to show up at the A. and B. on February 1, clean-shaven, with $5 entry fee. Seventy men did so. The restaurant matched the $350, and other merchants chipped in as well.

Mr. Nebstedt, besides the honor of it all, received a free dinner and drinks at the Witherspoon Street restaurant. He also got a shamrock tie and sash with "Longbeard" written on it. His name is now on the plaque that hangs over the bar. He lives in Ewing.

junior and senior members of the varsity basketball team.

The event is open to the public, and all admission donations and sales of refreshments will benefit the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

TAX LAW TOPIC

Of Hopewell Library Talk. The Hopewell Township Branch of the Mercer County Library will sponsor a program called "Beat the Tax Trap" Monday at 7:30.

Nicholas Ventura, account executive with Shearson-American Express, will lead the discussion covering sources of tax-free income as well as tax-deferred annuities.

New tax law incentives, utility reinvestment, and the new IRA accounts will be discussed.

The library is located in the Pennington Square Shopping Center on Route 31. For more details, call 737-2610.

LANDAU'S
New Collection of Cotton Sweaters

 12WS8401

 12WS8400

LANDAU'S great idea for cool weather comfort — the cotton sweater.

Made from 100% pure cotton, these sweaters are fully fashioned of 6-ply, 5-gauge cotton yarn. You'll enjoy the comfort of these "gutsy" cotton sweaters from early spring, through late fall, and into winter.

Casually styled for every wardrobe, you'll find each sweater gives the bulk of wool with the cool comfort of cotton. Just the right weight for spring days, cool summer evenings and over-air-conditioned buildings. Once you wear these sweaters, you'll find they're the perfect wool substitute for more than 6 months out of the year.

LANDAU cotton sweaters are very easy to care for, just hand wash in cold water or dry clean.

Treat yourself to the practical comfort of 100% cotton. Or, give the coolness of cotton to special people on Father's Day, Mother's Day, graduation and birthdays.

Princeton Regional School

HIGHLIGHTS

Highlights is sponsored and prepared by the Parent Teacher Organization of the Princeton Regional Schools.

JOHN WITHERSPOON MIDDLE SCHOOL - Student Talent Show! March 26 at 8 p.m. in the John Witherspoon Auditorium. This show has already been presented to the students of the Middle School. Now family, friends, and all others are invited to enjoy the fun too. Tickets are $1.00 for students and $2.00 for adults. They may be purchased at the door or in the school during the lunch hour on March 24-26.

LITTLEBROOK - On April 1, Littlebrook School will celebrate its 25th Anniversary. At 8 p.m. the school chorus will sing songs from the 1956 Broadway Hits. At 9 p.m. the PTO will host a reunion for all former staff, school board members and the class of 1956. Over 200 invitations have been sent; however, if we have missed you and you would like to join the reunion please call Julia Nemeth at 924-5600.

The 5th graders are participating in a Backpacking / Environmental Education Program. Under the auspices of the Littlebrook PTO, the program is directed by Warren Elmer Jr. of the Environmental Education Division of Princeton University and four University students. It involves hands-on activities and skills which include first aid, campcraft, and the use of compass and maps. The backpackers are becoming aware of several areas of environmental studies, including biology, pollution, plants and animals. They will use their newly developed skills on two overnights during the spring.

RIVERSIDE - "Did You Use a Tree Today?" asks the bulletin board outside Miss Taylor's first grade class. Inside the class students are discovering that in all likelihood they have in many ways - from playing with a rubber ball to eating a baked apple spiced with cinnamon. The children have written stories about trees, made tree books, and enlisted the aid of parents in identifying types of wood used in their homes. One day they enthusiastically compared textures, color, hardness and even the smell of wood samples lent by the high school. Many students now have a favorite tree! When our trees turn green again, these children will look at them with new eyes.

Mrs. Martinson's fourth graders turned into teenagers a few years ahead of schedule when they presented their version of the TV program "Fame." This student-written and directed program showed teens dealing with schoolwork, death, and extra-curricular activities. A nicely choreographed and well performed dance closed the show.

The same class has been studying New Jersey. For their assembly program they resurrected some important people from our state, Thomas Edison and Molly Pitcher, among others, introduced themselves and told a little about their accomplishments.

Ms. Schreiber's kindergarteners and Ms. Stovall's English as a Second Language class used songs and a slide show in an assembly, to give us a glimpse of the United States. The children in Ms. Stovall's class come from many countries but they have discovered that "It's a small world after all." Programs and state flags crafted by the children and a lively entrance march imparted an uplifting feeling to the audience.

COMMUNITY PARK - Mr. Lynch, CP's art teacher, has been making glazed pottery with his classes this winter. Grades 3-5 have made all kinds of fantastic pottery masks. The 1-2 grades have done decorated glazed pinch pots.

The annual Book Swap was held March 17-19. Mary Pickins and Judith Gorog did an excellent job of collecting, sorting and dispersing a large variety of books to all of CP's enthusiastic readers.

This is the fifth year of the Community Park School Jogging Program which began March 15. The individual goals are the same as in the past. When each participant has completed Phase One, he/she moves to Phase Two. There are goals for all age groups between 5 and 50. All members of CP families are encouraged to participate. An iron-on transfer with the program's logo will be given for completion of each phase. Mrs. Mackey, CP's gym teacher, reminds us, "The long-range goal is that jogging/running will become an important part of each person's well being now and in the future. It is this sense of well being that will be the real reward, not the iron-on transfer."

Round and round they go; everybody is skating. The whole school, grades K-5 is on wheels. And what fun they are having! The kindergarteners who spent a lot of time down are now really skating after five sessions. It feels as if spring might really be here!

CALENDAR

- March 27 High School Studio Band Dinner Dance, 7:30 - 12:30, HS Cafeteria.

DEMONSTRATION SET
Of Dessert Technique. Professional cooking techniques which are adaptable to home use will be demonstrated at the YWCA on Monday at 12:30.

Karla H. Jones, President of Happy Endings, Inc. and owner of Cafe Au Lait, will show how simple desserts can be turned into fancy pastry shop specialties at home. Participants will have an opportunity for a hands-on experience. To participate in this special one session demonstration, call Arlene Berman, 924-5571.

Enrollment is limited to enable each participant to work with Ms. Jones.

SPACE AVAILABLE

In YWCA Classes. There is still time to register for spring session classes at the Princeton YWCA.

Grade school children interested in developing their creative talents can participate in such classes as Be a Clown and We're All Poets. Classes which provide practical information on employment to middle and high school youth include Job Interviews: Fun or Fearful and Baking Cakes for $100.

There is still space available for selected Adult Department classes, some of which are assorted cooking classes, oil painting, outdoor watercolor painting, sewing (intermediate and advanced), smocking, book of the month, Polish, English as a Second Language, Journal Writing, Writers Workshop, bridge, gardening, Estate Retirement and Gift Planning, typing, Mothers Almanac, Personal Effectiveness, Skills Training for Volunteers, Listening to 20th Century Music, and On Your Own.

Many Health, Physical Education and Recreation classes also still have space available on a limited basis.

"NATURAL" PLANNING

For Families. A two-session program in "Natural Family Planning" will be given Wednesday, March 31 and Wednesday, May 5 from 7 to 9 p.m. by the Planned Parenthood Association of the Mercer Area in the Hamilton Women's Health Center. Registration details may be obtained by calling 393-0626.

Natural Family Planning is a method of birth control which uses no chemicals, hormones or mechanical devices, but relies on the natural changes that take place in the female body during the menstrual cycle. The cost of the program is $2 for Planned Parenthood patients, $10 for others and $15 for couples.

TEEN PROBLEMS

Panel Will Discuss. Parties, alcohol and drugs and the legal, physical and emotional implications of their use by young people will be discussed next Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Princeton High School.

This is the third of five workshops sponsored by the PTO Council of the Princeton Regional Schools. The public is invited to attend.

Participants in the panel will be Dr. Bart Harris, Betts Gabrielson, Sharon Powell and Valerie Meluskey.

PRINCETON REGIONAL SCHOOLS OUR BUSINESS IS CHILDREN

PROGRAMS

The academic and extra curricular programs in the Princeton Regional Schools offer children the widest possible opportunities for academic, emotional, and physical growth.

In the area of academics, art and music span the twelve grades of instruction. Foreign language instruction begins in the middle school and continues through grade 12. The percentage of students enrolled in foreign languages in our high school is one of the highest percentages in the country. The offerings on the secondary level offer a breadth of opportunity for students of all abilities and interests. The program in the elementary schools provides a foundation in the basic skills necessary for successful student progress through the grades.

The excellence of our programs is reflected in part by the recognition received by our high school students. Last year there were forty-three National Merit Scholarship finalists and semi-finalists. Our Studio Jazz Band won second place in the Berklee Music Festival in Boston and the Orchestra will participate in the National Orchestra Contest in Washington, D.C., this May. The Princeton High School String Quartet will perform at the New Jersey Governor's Awards Program this spring. Our Biology team has won first place in state competitions for the past two years. The Math team concluded last year with a number of first prizes in several regional competitions. In addition, individual students have been recognized in various competitions for achievements in writing, dramas, and foreign languages.

Maintaining Excellence in Education Requires Responsibility In

INSTRUCTIONAL PLANNING: Each year the district reviews and modifies programs to be sure that the needs of all students are being met. This year, staff time has been devoted to the review of our remedial programs as well as to the modification and improvement of our gifted program. The latter is still in the early stages of development and will be the focus of additional staff workshops this summer and next year. The district has continued to develop new units in social studies and to provide related staff workshops which focus on contemporary national and international issues. Staff members have presented workshops based on our social studies program at state, regional, and national conferences this past year. A major new focus for the staff this spring and next year will be the development of a comprehensive Family Life Education Program.

LONG RANGE PLANNING: In response to economic pressures created by declining enrollment, and the State Cap law the Board of Education closed the Johnson Park School last year. All excess school space has been leased to compatible users to create additional revenues to support the Princeton Regional School District program.

A citizens Long Range Planning Committee, advisory to the Board, has been established to recommend future program direction. Study is also underway for alternative uses of school facilities.

FISCAL CONTROL: Since our proposed budget is within the 6.9 percent increase "cap" set by the state and therefore has little margin of error, the school system exercises great care in monitoring the expenditure of funds. The budget projected for the school year usually comes within 1 percent of the actual expenditures.

SELF STUDY: Staff reviews of the Student Services and Remedial Programs will be completed this year. In addition, the Chamber of Commerce has assisted the Business Office with validation of a self study of business services including fiscal operation, transportation, operations and maintenance, food services, and administrative functions.

IN-SERVICE AND STAFF DEVELOPMENT: Our in-service program provides staff with the time necessary to revise and up-date our curricula as well as to receive training in such areas as the use of calculators in the elementary classrooms and the use of micro-computers in the secondary math programs. It also provides staff with intellectually stimulating seminars such as our full day program which, this year, focused on the role of the humanities in education. The program gave staff members an opportunity to meet in small groups with nationally known authors, artists, and educators and to discuss the teaching of the humanities. We are currently exploring means of providing staff training programs which will enable us to develop instructional units, at the elementary level, in outdoor education.

STAFF SUPERVISION AND EVALUATION: Although our evaluation and supervision procedures are among the most comprehensive in the state, we continue to put additional time and effort into improving the supervisory skills of administration. Since declining enrollment necessitates the reassignment of some staff from one elementary school to another, all elementary principals have been involved in observing, supervising, and evaluating each non-tenured elementary teacher for the past two years.

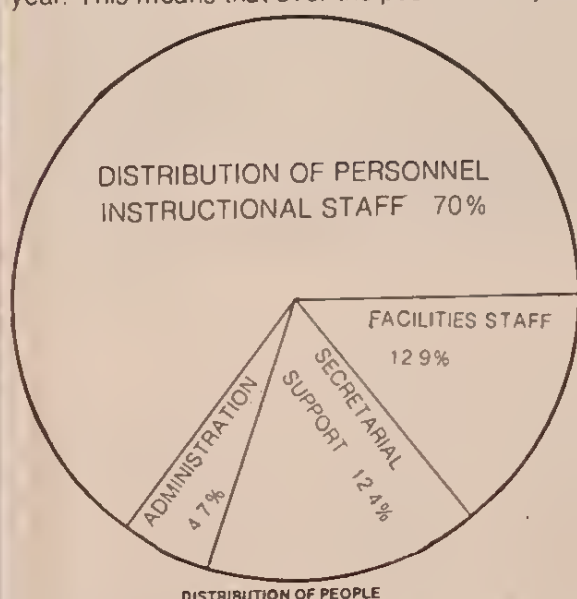

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE BUDGET

The initial budget prepared in the fall by teachers, parents, and administrators is analyzed to determine its effect on the instructional program. The budget is modified and changed so that despite problems of declining enrollment and inflation, the high quality of instruction expected of our schools will be maintained.

There are important constraints on the budget. Through state "cap" legislation, we are permitted to raise the budget only 6.9 percent. However, like everyone else, the schools are feeling the impact of an inflation rate well above 10 percent a year. This means that over the past several years the budget of the school district has decreased in terms of real dollars.

At the same time the state is limiting spending, the state is also requiring additional programs to cover a variety of student needs. It is within this context that the school budget is developed. The budget is an attempt to balance the very real constraints of federal and state mandates, caps, and inflation with the needs of our students. It hopefully reflects the pride the Princeton community has in education and in the schools. We urge you to examine your responsibility as a citizen and to participate in the process by voting on April 6.

NON-EVENT SCHEDULED
 To Benefit YWCA Scholarship. Every year organizations in and around the Princeton area hold concerts, dances, auctions and fairs to raise much needed funds for scholarships.

This year the Princeton YWCA decided that with so many conflicting events, it would hold its first 'Non-Event.' April Fool's Day seemed an ideal time for a non-event which no one need attend because it will not be held. There won't be any conflict with other area events, there are no expenses such as babysitters and new clothes — just a desire to assist the Princeton YWCA.

By sending a tax-deductible contribution to the Pearl Bates Scholarship Fund, participants insure the continuance of a scholarship fund that works for all women and children who, for one reason or another, find themselves temporarily in need of assistance for participation in the many fine programs offered by the YWCA.

Pearl Bates, in whose memory the scholarship is named, grew up in Princeton and in the YWCA. She took part in all the YWCA activities for children and young people, then joined the Business and Professional Girl's Club, and finally, for many years, served as a member of the board of directors. She died of cancer before her 40th birthday.

Together with her many friends and associates at ETS, the YWCA established in her memory the Pearl Bates Scholarship Fund, which is sustained by individual contributions and fund raising events. The fund is dedicated to providing scholarships for women of all ages and children who could not participate in YWCA programs without financial assistance.

Last year the Princeton YWCA gave $11,189.85 in Pearl Bates Scholarships. Participation in the gala April Fool's Day Non-Event will help the Princeton YWCA, a member agency of the United Way, Princeton Area Communities, to continue this scholarship program. Invitations are in the mail.

Those who did not receive one may call the YWCA, 924-5571 or send their contribution to April Fool's Day Non-event, Princeton YWCA, Paul Robeson Place.

STAR GAZING PLANNED

On Friday Evenings. The Amateur Astronomers' Association of Princeton (AAAP) will hold its spring public stargazing sessions on four Friday nights beginning March 26 and ending April 16. The sessions will be held at the club's observatory in Washington Crossing State Park.

The observatory features a 6-inch refractor telescope that is 100 years old and a 10-inch reflecting (mirror) telescope. During the spring, the planets and Mars and Saturn will be visible, along with many galaxies in the constellations of Leo and Virgo.

Those interested in attending should meet at 7:30 p.m. at the N.J. State Planetarium, located one block west of the State Capital building on West State Street in Trenton. From there, directions will be given to the observatory. In case of cloudy skies, a program will be conducted in the Planetarium.

GYPSY STRIPPER

Moth Movie Coming. A movie called "The Stripper" about the life and times of the gypsy moth, will be shown next Monday at 8 in the town hall of West Windsor by the township's shade tree commission. The public is invited.

Written and produced by the Monmouth County Shade Tree Commission, the movie is laid in that county. It shows the damage gypsy moths can do, and what measures can be taken to combat the moth.

Speakers will be David Shaw, superintendent of the Monmouth County Shade Tree Commission; Charles Holmes, Mercer County Agricultural Agent and a representative from Union Carbide, the company that makes Sevin, often used against gypsy moths. A question and answer period will follow the film and the speakers.

STUDENTS TO SPEAK

On AFS Experience. The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present a program by the Montgomery High School chapter of the American Field Service International on Thursday, March 25, from 7:30-9:30.

Two AFS returnees will show slides and talk about their experiences with the program. They are Margaret Merritt, who spent last year in Switzerland, and Joseph Mosso, who was in Australia.

Visiting AFS students from abroad, Alicia Del Bianco from Argentina and Antoine Soubeyran from France will also be part of this program.

This program is free and open to the public. For further information, call the library at 924-7073.

AGREEMENT REACHED

By Birth Center With Blue Cross. Familyborn, a non-profit center for birth and women's health on Route 27, North Brunswick, has entered into an agreement with Blue Cross of New Jersey by which prospective prenatal clients who are Blue Cross subscribers may be eligible for birthing care at the center.

The agreement was dependent on the Center's receiving a demonstration license from the New Jersey Department of Health, which was obtained in mid-December. Those interested in learning more about Familyborn's services may call the Center, (201) 821-6200 weekdays.

A LITTLE GREEN Grows a Long Way!

Plant just $100 in a New Jersey Savings Bank 18 month variable IRA certificate and watch your retirement savings grow!

You can deposit as little as $40 a week up to $2000, or 100% of your earned annual income, whichever is less, tax deferred. If your spouse works, that doubles the investment. With a non-working spouse, you can increase your contribution to $2250.

Contributions to an I.R.A. are fully deductible from gross income to the maximum allowable by law. The compounded interest earned remains tax-free until you begin to withdraw from your account at retirement.

Remember, your retirement security is as important to us as it is to you, and at New Jersey Savings Bank, a little GREEN can grow a long way! Federal Regulations require a substantial penalty should early withdrawal from a certificate be allowed.

Collins Picks AIRCOA, Based in Denver, to Run Nassau Inn

A little-known firm specializing in the burnishing of fine old hotels has been chosen by Collins Development, after a 14-month search, to manage the Nassau Inn.

AIRCOA (Associated Inns and Restaurants Company of America), under a 15-year contract with Collins, will take over "The Nass" within the next 90 days. The Inn has been managed by Restaurant Associates, which was one of the contenders, along with successful AIRCOA.

"We wanted a combination of an old country inn manager with warmth and friendliness, and someone who would know how to build our new addition to the Nass, and upgrade the present plant," explained James Harvie, Collins vice-president.

"This great old inn will finally get some attention."

Move Slowly. "We won't automatically make a bunch of changes right away," said William W. Perrett, AIRCOA's vice-president for development at a press conference last week. "And we have no intention of making the Nass anything but what it is. For example, we won't touch the Yankee Doodle room."

The Denver-based firm either owns or operates more than 40 hotels, inns, resorts, clubs and condominiums. It refurbished the Brown Palace Hotel, a landmark Denver building, and it manages the Grand Old Hotel in Chattanooga and the Mayo Hotel in Tulsa, both listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

"We do nothing on a cookie-cutter basis," Mr. Perrett explained. "We like interesting, special kinds of properties and the Nassau Inn just fits. It has the kinds of problems we like."

Rehabilitation of the existing building and construction of the addition across Palmer Square East are the two major projects AIRCOA will face. All guest rooms will be re-done "to make the Nass a first-class, top-of-the-line hotel." He said his firm hoped to make the addition an integral part of the Inn and Palmer Square, and not simply "an annex." When the addition is finished, the hotel will have 250 rooms; at present, it has 119.

More Restaurants? A larger hotel will need more places to eat, Mr. Perrett said, adding that AIRCOA's marketing, food and beverage staff will study the present restaurant-kitchen facilities and figure out the best way to expand.

"If your food's bad, your reputation suffers," Mr. Perrett remarked. "The Nass is the cornerstone of Palmer Square and must be top quality."

Present members of the staff at the Nass have been informed of the change, Mr. Harvie said.

"The basic idea is to retain the present staff and not make any changes until later. Most of the hotel's employees are ours, and not Restaurant Associates. Jeff Lief — the present manager and an employee of Restaurant Associates — helped to allay whatever fears the staff had about the change. Many of the people who work there have been there for many, many years."

"The front desk clerks, dishwashers and waiters are key people," Mr. Perrett emphasized. "This area is a very sensitive one for us."

The Search. Claudette Adams, of the Collins Development staff, said that during the 14-month search, she and various other members of the staff made a point of visiting hotels around the country unannounced.

"We didn't just want to look at balance sheets," she said. "We wanted to know what it was like to be a guest. We also checked out references of the various hotel chains we were investigating, and used the industry grapevine."

"We wanted someone who would be sensitive to the traditions of the Nass, its position in the town and the feelings of University alumni toward it. We also wanted a firm which could respond to the broader needs of the whole community."

Although Mr. Perrett said he was indeed aware of the competition on Route One and planned "as fine a set of conference rooms as can be built," AIRCOA did not propose to "spend $1 million on audio, like Seanticon."

"We know the importance of Palmer Square to the community," he said. "This is terrific and exciting — let's go to work!"

WOMEN ARE FOCUS

Of New Newspaper. The Woman's Newspaper of Princeton, which has as its theme, "A Woman's Place is Where She Wants to Be," has made its debut.

Put out by two Princeton residents, Donna Satow and Arri Parker, The Woman's Newspaper intends to improve the quantity and quality of information concerning women, no matter what their attitude, on a woman's role in society.

The first issue was released on March 6 and included articles on jobs and IRAs as well as an interview with a feminist theologian. The second issue, scheduled for release in mid-April, will include articles on health, gardening, the formation of a business, day care, women's organizations, as well as interviews with area business owners.

The newspaper can be found in stores in Princeton as well as through women's organizations.

POCKET ALARM OFFERED

By University Store. Recent attacks on women have brought the Princeton University Store and "The Daily Princetonian" together in a joint venture both hope will have an effect on deterring future attacks.

The University Store has purchased a personal alarm which it will distribute at cost; the Princee has donated advertising space to publicize and promote the alarm.

The pocket-sized unit features a piercing alarm sound and a blindingly bright light. According to store President Donald Broderick, the sound-light combination does more than alert passersby. "The sound is so loud and piercing that, thrust into an attacker's face, it is actually capable of breaking an eardrum." Similarly, the light, no ordinary flashlight, can be temporarily blinding.

"The rash of attacks has created a great deal of concern on and off campus," Mr. Broderick stated. "We hope that our joint effort in offering and publicizing the alarm will make everyone feel — and be — safer."

Sold nationally for $14.78, the alarm will be offered, complete with batteries, at the Princeton University Store's cost of $7.49. It is available in the lower level in the TV and office equipment department.

SALES OFFICES PLANNED

By Mathtech. Mathtech, Inc., the consulting and research division of Mathematica, Inc. has announced an expansion in its small computers sales and software services.

Established just two years ago, Mathtech has become the largest dealer in the east for Vector Graphic microcomputer systems. Previously, Mathtech's sales, systems design, and software development services have been available only from its Princeton location. Now announced are a series of end-user sales offices in New York City, Philadelphia, Bethesda, Md., and Arlington, Va.

BOWERS BUILDS PLANT

For Detergent Company. The Bowers Organization is building a 7,500 square foot, 30-foot-high sulfonation plant building for Colgate-Palmolive Company at a site on the Hudson River in Jersey City.

Fulmer Bowers and Wolfe, Architects, is designing the structure and Bowers Construction Company is building it. Both are affiliates of Lewis C. Bowers and Sons, Inc.

Because of poor soil conditions at the plant's riverside location, it is being built on steel pilings. The building has already been closed in, and construction is about three quarters complete.

The plant will produce the active ingredients for two of Colgate's liquid detergents, Palmolive Liquid and Ajax All-Purpose Cleaner. All production will be used at Colgate's plant in Jersey City — the company's largest production facility in the U.S.

OBITUARIES

Albert Elsasser, a member of the Department of English at Princeton University for 38 years until his retirement in 1962, died March 14 in Keene, N.H. He was 88 years old.

A scholar in the field of medieval English literature, Elsasser taught courses in the development of the English language and in the literature and culture of the Old English period. A native of Philadelphia, he graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1917 and joined the Princeton faculty after receiving his M.A. and Ph.D. there in 1923 and 1924, respectively.

During his last 16 years at Princeton, he divided his time between teaching and administration. From 1946 to 1958 he was chairman of the board of faculty advisers and director of freshman studies, with responsibilities for academic counseling of undergraduates. From 1958 until his retirement he served as executive secretary of the university committee for the analysis of educational operations.

Prof. Elsasser's broad interests in education placed him in leadership roles with a number of organizations and committees. A member of Princeton's Committee on Admission for two decades, he served five years as chairman of the Committee on Faculty Participation in Projects of Adult Education, working with community adult schools throughout the state and providing liaison between the university and state education officials.

From 1944 to 1946 he chaired a special committee of the School and College Conference in English, directing a study of English preparation in secondary schools. From 1950 to 1958 he was chairman of the Committee on Articulation in English, bringing together New Jersey high school and college teachers to discuss common problems and to coordinate teaching goals.

Prof. Elsasser was a life member of the Modern Language Association, as well as a member of the Modern Humanities Research Association and the American Association of University Professors. He chaired the College Conference on English of the Middle Atlantic States (1938) and for many years served on the executive committee of the School and College Conference on English.

An elder and trustee of the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton, he was for six years clerk-treasurer of the University Chapel Congregation. He was a member of the Council of Academic Advisors of Marlboro College (Vermont), and a trustee of Princeton Country Day School from 1945-1951.

He is survived by his wife, Mary Boyd Elsasser of 445 Park Avenue, Keene, N.H.; a son, Harold, of Mt. Lebanon, Pa.; a daughter, Katharine H. Worthington, of Avon, Conn.; and five grandchildren. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, the family has asked that contributions be made to the Ministry of Music, Sturdevant Chapel, 15 Washington Avenue, Keene, N.H. 03431.

George W. Frederick, 82, of Pennington, died March 16 at Mercer Medical Center.

Mr. Frederick was born in Pineville, Pa., and had lived in Pennington for more than 40 years. Before retiring, he had been employed by the Trenton Brass Co. for more than 45 years. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America.

Surviving are a brother, Harry Frederick of Florida; a sister, Kathryn Siebert of Yardley; a nephew, John Brennon of Trenton; and four great nephews and two great-nieces.

The service was held at Pennington memorial home, the Rev. James R. Biggs, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Wrightstown Cemetery, Wrightstown, Pa.

Lois Shiverick Ilke, 66 of 224 King George Road, Pennington, died March 15 in Princeton Medical Center.

Mrs. Ilke was born in Albany, N.Y., and had lived in Pennington for 21 years. She was a former resident of Mountain Lakes and a former employee of the Scholarship Services Department of Educational Testing Service, Princeton.

Wife of the late Ronald C. Ilke, Sr., she is survived by three sons, Ronald C. Ilke Jr. of Browns Mills, William M. Ilke of Pennington and Robert E. Ilke of Littleton, Colo.; three daughters, Sally M. Mutch of Mansfield Center, Conn., Nancy Ilke of Marlborough, Mass., and Pamela H. Groy of Jonestown; a brother, Pete Shiverick of Idaho; a sister, Carolyn S. Corson of Marlboro, N.Y.; and 18 grandchildren.

The service was held at the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dann H. Fearon officiating. Burial was in Highland Cemetery, Hopewell. Memorial contributions may be made to the Delaware-Raritan Lung Association, 29 Emmons Drive, Princeton.

Agnes M. Geisenhoner, 85, a longtime Pennington resident, died March 15 in Lankenau Hospital, Philadelphia. She was a resident of William Hill Manor, Easton, Pa., and had lived in Pennington for 45 years before moving to Easton two years ago.

Mrs. Geisenhoner was born in Wilmington, Del. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Pennington and the Hopewell Chapter O.E.S.

Surviving are her husband, Dr. Albert L. Geisenhoner; a son, Henry A. Geisenhoner of Pennington; three daughters, Alice Stoeckel of Huntingdon Valley, Pa., Naomi Reed of Wayne, Pa., and Ruth Voorhees of East Greenville, Pa.; nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The service was held at a Pennington memorial home, the Rev. James R. Biggs of the First United Methodist Church of Pennington officiating. Burial was in Pennington Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Memorial Fund of Lankenau Hospital, City Line and Lancaster Avenues, Philadelphia, Pa.

Adam C. Wesp, of Laurel Avenue, Kingston, died March 18 at Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. Wesp was born in Long Island, N.Y., and had lived in Kingston for more than 50 years. He retired in 1960 from Public Service Electric and Gas Co., where he served as a stockroom clerk for 32 years. He was a life member of the Kingston Volunteer Fire Company and a member of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah in Princeton.

Surviving are his wife, Anna Nelhaus Wesp, with whom he recently celebrated his 65th wedding anniversary; a son, Philip A. Wesp of Kingston; two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The service was held at the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, the Rev. Allen A. Gartner officiating. Burial was in Kingston Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Kingston First Aid and Rescue Squad or the Lutheran Church of the Messiah.

CHORAL CONCERT SET

By Combined Church Choirs. Trinity-All Saints' Concerts will present a Lenten Concert of Choral Music based on psalms by the combined All Saints' Choir and the Trinity Adult Choir, accompanied by a chamber orchestra, on Sunday at 8 at All Saints' Church.

Conducted by All Saints' music director, Lois Laverty, and Trinity's organist and director of music, James Litton, the program will include works by Goudimel, Sweelinck, LeJeune, Campion, Schutz, Monteverdi and Handel. The combined choirs of 60 voices will be accompanied in the Handel Chandos Anthem No. 6 by a 10-piece instrumental ensemble led by Joseph Kovacs.

David Chalmers, All Saints' organist, will play organ and harpsichord continuo.

Soloists will include Anne Ackley and Sharon Alexander, sopranos; Ellen Armstrong, mezzo soprano, and John Woodard, baritone. Cards of admission (contribution $4 and $3) will be available at the door. This program of unusual and rarely performed choral music will be the fifth concert in the seven-concert 1981-82 Trinity-All Saints' series.

MISSIONS ARE TOPIC

Of Church Conference. Princeton Presbyterian Church will hold its annual missions conference Friday and Saturday. On Friday beginning with dinner at 7, the Rev. Kennedy Smartt, coordinator of Mission to the World, from the Presbyterian Church in America, will speak at the Evangelical Presbyterian Church, Denow Avenue, Lawrenceville. His topic is "The Importance of Missions Today."

On Sunday at 9:30 a.m., Mr. Smartt will conduct an interview with several P.C.A. missionaries, during the Adult Sunday School. Mr. Smartt will speak during the 11 a.m. worship service of Princeton Presbyterian Church and again at 6 p.m. for the evening service.

The Church is currently meeting at the facilities of the American Boychoir School on Lambert Drive. The public is invited to all of the meetings. For further information call 921-1020.

DRAMA TROUPE DUE

At Christian Center. A new play with music entitled, "King of the Jews," will be presented Thursday at 7:30 at Nassau Christian Center, Nassau Street and Chambers Street, by the PTL Club's Heritage Players. This Christian drama troupe is traveling across the country ministering in 17 cities during a 16-day tour.

Written by Tom and Candy Green, the play presents a Jewish slant to the Gospel and shows how both Jewish believers and non-believers of the day viewed the last week of Jesus' life. The program will include other skits, personal testimonies and gospel music.

The public is invited to the program Thursday.

SCHUBERT MASS SET

By Nassau Church. Mass in G Major by Franz Schubert will be given in the sanctuary of Nassau Presbyterian Church, Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship hour. The mass, written in 1815, for choir, orchestra and organ will be conducted by Dr. Kenneth B. Kelley, director of music at Nassau Church.

The Adult Choir of the church will sing the mass accompanied by the Ritzenhouse String Quartet of Philadelphia. Brian-Paul Thomas will be the organist and Harriet Chase, tympanist. Vocal soloists are Joan Hemer, soprano; Bruce LaBar, tenor; Eric Lobeastine, tenor; James McPherson, baritone and Richard Van Doren, baritone. The community is invited.

SWISS THEOLOGIAN DUE

At Nassau Church. The Swiss theologian Eduard Schweizer will lead members of Nassau Presbyterian Church in a series of talks on the gospel of Luke this week.

More than 160 church members have been reading and studying the gospel of Luke in the past four weeks. Beginning Sunday night at 8 and continuing every night at 8 through Wednesday, March 31, Dr. Schweizer will lead an in-depth discussion of Luke—the subject of his next book—in the Assembly Room of the church at 61 Nassau Street. All are welcome, including those who have not been in a small Bible study group.

His wife, Elizabeth Hanhart Schweizer, will talk about what it means to be a parent in this day and age on Monday and Wednesday, March 29 and 31, at noon in the Conference Room at Nassau Church. Interested persons are invited to bring a bag lunch and discuss the subject with her. She will also lead a workshop on parenting on Saturday, April 3, from 10:30 to noon and 1 to 2:30.

Those who are interested in attending any of Mrs. Schweizer's sessions are asked to call the church office, 924-0103.

BULLETIN NOTES

The annual meeting of the congregation and corporation of Nassau Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday immediately following the 10 a.m. worship service. Reports from the officers, the auditing committee and the nominating committee will be heard, and elections for elders, trustees, deacons, auditing committee and congregational members of the nominating committee will be held.

The Consolata Mission Center on Route 27 in Somerset will hold a Ziti Dinner on Thursday from 5:30 to 8. Donation is $3.50 per person for adults, and $2 each for children 12 years old and under.

Dinner will include ziti, meatballs, salad, bread and butter, cake and coffee. For tickets, call the Mission Center at 297-9191 or 247-7608. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

The Rev. Robert Moore Jr., the Coordinator of the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament, will preach at Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street, Saturday evening at 5:30 at the Vigil Eucharist. The Liturgy for the Eucharist will be taken from the Eucharistic Rite of the 1789 Book of Common Prayer.

This service is the fifth in a liturgy and preaching series held at Trinity on Saturday evenings in Lent.

The Brothers Four will give a concert Sunday, April 4, at 3 at First Baptist Church for Women's Day. The chairperson is Helen Floyd. The Rev. Edward Smith is pastor.

"KING OF THE JEWS" Comes to Town

HIGHLIGHT of the WEEK

Not a CASTLE, Not a COTTAGE

but a home that's Just Right! Meticulously planned and designed by Princeton architect Rolt Bauhan for the many needs of a large and active family. It is as right today as when master-built in the '50s.

Spacious living and dining rooms, planned for formal entertaining as well as family parties overlook a walled brick terrace and free form in-ground pool, but the real heart of the house is the cozy paneled library with fireplace and walls book-lined to the ceiling. Upstairs, attractive master suite of bedroom and bath, four other bedrooms, three baths, and piping in for a fourth - if needed.

This is a charming house, built of brick and shingle to be weather-tight, maintenance free, easy to heat. Set midst tastefully landscaped grounds, backing up to one of Princeton's fine old estates, it's a joy to see and a pleasure to live in.

* OUR PROMISE TO PRINCETON CONSUMERS:

- IF YOU HAVE A COMPLAINT against any local business firm, just call 924-8223 and a Consumer Bureau representative will investigate and mediate, then, if you are not satisfied and
 - IF CONSUMER BUREAU'S ALL-CONSUMER PANEL
AGREES that your complaint is valid, the business firm involved has only two choices: either satisfy your complaint promptly or lose its Consumer Bureau
Registration
 - YOU CAN CHECK by phone any time you like whether any local business firm you name is Consumer Bureau Registered
- (Not all reliable local firms are Registered, but for every Registered firm we have been obliged to take off our Register ten times that number of UnRegistered firms have failed to meet our standards of reliability.)

Custom Homes By William Bucci Builders, Inc.

Dogwood Hill is a unique residential enclave on the west side of Mount Lucas Road in Princeton Township.

The site is naturally rolling and covered with native dogwoods and large shade trees.

Eleven custom homes will be built on lots of at least three quarters of an acre, in a cluster plan with seven acres of common open space.

William Bucci Builders, Inc., are local builders with a fine record of building quality custom homes in the Princeton area. They will build from their plans or yours. All lots are fully developed with public water, sewer and underground utilities of electric and gas.

BACK TO BULGARIA: Louka, played by Penelope Reed, is the maid of the Petkoff family in 1885 Bulgaria, scene of Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man." The comedy will open this Friday at McCarter.

SHAW OPENS FRIDAY
Final Play in Series. In the cast of Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," you'll find McCarter Theatre regulars, two new faces and one alumna returning after five years. The comedy will open this Friday at 8, after previews this Wednesday and Thursday. It will play through April 10, as the fifth and final play of the season.
One regular is Bruce Somerville, as Shaw's "chocolate-cream soldier", Captain Bluntschli. He was young Scrooge in the 1981 "Christmas Carol" and Bob Cratchitt in the 1980 production. He's also been in McCarter's "Taming of the Shrew," "The Miser," "All the Way Home," "1959 Pink Thunderbird" and "Moby Dick Rehearsed."

Another is Jay Doyle, who was Nonno, the aging poet in "Night of the Iguana." He has been Jacob Marley in both "Christmas Carol" productions. This time, he'll be Shaw's Major Paul Petkoff.

Greg Thornton, who plays Sergius in "Arms and the Man," was Hank in "Iguana" and the Second Narrator in "Christmas Carol." He played several parts in "Custer," was Elijah in "Moby Dick" and Hortensio in "The Taming of the Shrew."

Penelope Reed (Louka, in the Shaw play), was Hannah in "Iguana." In "Christmas Carol," she played both the Ghost of Christmas Past, and Miss Emily.

And finally, Francis Bilancio, soon to appear as a Russian Officer, was in "Moby Dick" and "The Miser."

back, is Margaret Hilton, who appeared on McCarter's stage in 1977 in "The Utter Glory of Morrissey Hall." She'll be Catherine in Shaw's comedy.

The two newcomers are Gordana Rashovich, who will play Raina, opposite the Chocolate Cream Soldier, and Robin Chadwick, who will portray Nicola.

SAM SHEPARD, WILD
With Beckett. "Icarus's Mother" (Icarus had a mother?) by Sam Shepard, and Samuel Beckett's "Footfalls" and "Not I," will be presented this Friday and Saturday and again April 1, 2 and 3 at Princeton University's Acting Studio, 185 Nassau Street. Starting time is 8 p.m.

Described as "a wild, comic-drama," the Sam Shepard one-act play is about a picnic, a plane and fireworks. Five friends, on a Fourth of July outing, move from playing frisbee to watching the end of the world, as they watch a jet plane circling above them. They discover, in the one act, how much they fear, and how much they yearn for, in their lives.

Beckett's "Footfalls" concerns a mother and daughter.

"LOVESONG FOR MISS LYDIA:" A new play by Don Evans, former teacher at Princeton High School, is now on stage at Crossroads, the professional black theatre company in New Brunswick. It will run through April 17, Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8, Sundays at 3 and 7:30. The play is a poignant story of love in the later years of life. Left to right are Rosanna Carter, Frances Foster and Arthur French.

and their relationship to some haunting event in their past. The daughter walks slowly back and forth, turning the event in her mind as her mother — hidden, perhaps not even present — does the same. "Not I" has a single speaker whose mouth alone is visible. This speaker, too, revisits her past and the events that still torment, or attract her.

WINE! WALTZ! SONG!
Joint Benefit. A joint benefit by the Princeton Ballet and the Opera Theatre of New Jersey, "Wine, Waltz and Song," will be given April 24 at 8 p.m. in the State Theatre, New Brunswick. The $20 patron ticket, available from the Princeton Ballet Society, 103 Church Street, New Brunswick, 08901, includes an invitation to a wine reception following the performance. Tickets at $15 and $10 to the performance only, are also available.

Light-hearted celebration will be the theme, and the evening will include excerpts from "Carousel," the "Corelli Concerto," choreographed for the Princeton Ballet; popular operatic highlights from the Opera Theatre's repertoire, and as a finale, a set of Viennese waltzes. The Garden State Symphonie Pops orchestra will provide the music.

"DOGS OF WAR"
In Four Screenings. A group of European investors hires a mercenary to depose the Amin-type dictator of a small African nation. Neither condemning nor justifying, "The Dogs of War" can be watched with the same detachment as an adventure-action movie of the 1930s.

It will be shown four times next Tuesday and Wednesday — at 7:30 and 9:15 each night — in Kresge Auditorium on Washington Road. It's one of the Movies-from-McCarter series and admission is $2.75 at the door.

I'M THE BABY...
Age 46. Tuba player Allen Jaffee, founder of the Preservation Hall Jazz Band is only 46. Trombone Frank Demond is 49. They constitute the nursery of the Band, whose members can tally quite a few more years than that.

The Band's seven members will make their annual spring appearance in Princeton this Saturday at 8 in Dillon Gym on the Princeton University campus.

The combined ages of the performers total about 473 years, give or take a decade or two. Willie Humphrey, born 82 years ago, is the senior. He first performed as a boy in his father's band at a Poydras Market butchers' party. By 1919, he was playing with King Oliver and Freddie Keppard. With him will be his baby brother, trumpeter Percy. He was born in 1905.

KITCHEN, AS WORLD
In Rutgers Play. A restaurant kitchen as metaphor for the world, is what audiences will find in "The Kitchen," by English playwright Arnold Wesker, scheduled for performance at Rutgers' Levin Theatre next Wednesday, March 31, through Sunday, April 4. The theatre is on the Douglass College campus. Reservations for the $6 seats may be made by calling 201-932-9892 between noon and 5, Mondays through Fridays.

The cast of 30 performs on a very large set representing the kitchen of London's Tivoli Restaurant. Chefs and waitresses, pastry cooks and busboys, butcher and proprietor make their way through pandemonium, trying to cook, serve and clean, surrounded by four stoves, eight ovens and 12 work stations. More than 1,000 pieces of equipment — utensils, cutlery, pots, pans and serving dishes, serve as props.

Petty quarrels, false pride, snobbery and grumbling are set in counterpoint to the natural order of things, symbolized by breakfast, lunch and dinner. Playwright Wesker has said, "The world might have been a stage for Shakespeare, but to me, it's a kitchen."

PREMIERE: PHS student composers Julian Treves, Yoram Hazony, and Christopher Sanderson will each have a new work for full orchestra performed in the high school auditorium this Friday at 8.

MUSIC

In Princeton

BARITONE DUE
In University Concert Series. Metropolitan Opera star, Sherrill Milnes, baritone, will appear in the Virtuosi in Recital Series of the Princeton University Concerts on Tuesday, at 8 in McCarter Theatre. This concert was postponed from January 26, and tickets for the earlier date will be honored.

Sherrill Milnes has performed in every important opera house in the world, with virtually every major orchestra, and in solo recitals at major music centers everywhere.

He is the leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera, La Scala, Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, Vienna Staatsoper, Chicago Lyric, and the opera companies of Paris, San Francisco, Berlin, Hamburg, Munich and Salzburg. He has been engaged by every major record company, with more than 60 recordings encompassing all areas of the vocal repertoire — opera, symphony, lieder and oratorio.

Mr. Milnes was born in Downers Grove, Ill., and graduated from Drake University in Iowa with top honors in all subjects. His debut in a large opera house took place in 1961 when, as Charles Gerard in "Andrea Chenier," he bowed with Rosa Ponselle's Baltimore Civic Opera. He followed his debut performance at the Metropolitan Opera in "Faust" with appearances in such operas as "Pique Dame," "Fidelio," "Aida," "Andrea Chenier," "Un Ballo in Maschera," and "Don Giovanni."

Accompanied by pianist Jon Spong, Mr. Milnes' program will include some 18-century arias, a group of songs by Richard Strauss, French songs by Henri Duparc, 20th-century English Songs and two arias from Don Carlo by Giuseppe Verdi.

CONCERT AT PHS

Includes Original Work.
Three new works for full orchestra by Princeton High School's student composers will be premiered Friday night, at 8 in the PHS Auditorium.

Julian Treves, a junior, will be the soloist in his Nocturne for Piano and Orchestra. The PHS Orchestra will also play Chris Sanderson's new opus, composed on a visual model, and Yoram Hazony's Concerto for a Weary World, blending elements of classical music and rock idiom.

Derek Katz, PHS '82, will conduct the Hazony piece, and will also be the soloist in the last movement of the Weber Bassoon Concerto. The Mozart Pinno Concerto in A Major, K. 488, will feature Senior Jessica Liu as soloist.

The chamber music section of the program will include a new string quintet by PHS senior Ken Simon, and better known works by Dvorak, Brahms, Schumann, Altmann, and Bach.

The concert will be directed by Portia Sonnenfeld, who also teaches the Composition class at Princeton High School. The public is invited and admission is free. However, voluntary donations will be accepted toward the orchestra's trip in May to

CELLIST TO PERFORM
In University Concert Series. The Hungarian cellist, Janos Starker, will perform in the Virtuosi in Recital series of the Princeton University Concerts on Monday, April 5 at 8 in McCarter Theatre. Mr. Starker replaces an injured Nathaniel Rosen who was originally scheduled to appear.

At the pinnacle of his career, with a repertoire embracing virtually the entire cello literature, Janos Starker is acknowledged internationally as one of the great virtuoso cellists of all time. Born in Budapest, he began to study the cello at age six and, at 10, he was performing as a child prodigy in his native Hungary.

In 1948 he emigrated to the United States where he filled the post of principal cellist, first with the Dallas Symphony, then the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra and later with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the late Fritz Reiner. In 1958, the same year in which he embarked upon his international solo career, he joined the faculty of Indiana University in Bloomington, where he is now Distinguished Professor at its School of Music.

Accompanied by pianist Shigeo Nerikaki, Mr. Starker's program will include Bach, Sonata No. 2 in D Major; Schubert-Starker, Sonata in D Major; Stravinsky, Suite Italienne, and Brahms, Sonata in E Minor, Opus 38.

Tickets are available at the McCarter Theatre Box Office, 921-8700. Student "rush" tickets are available on the day of the performance for $5.

CONCERT SET

By Youth Orchestra. The Mercer County Symphonic Orchestra will give its annual Children's Concert on Sunday at 2 at The Kirby Arts Center of the Lawrenceville School.

The Children's Concert is a performance in addition to the three regular concerts given by the Orchestra during the year. The concert is designed specifically for a young audience, as well as adults young in heart, and it gives the orchestra of teenage musicians an opportunity to share its talent with area children, many of whom will be tomorrow's musicians.

The conductor, Dr. Matteo Giammaro, has selected a program that will feature Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf." Charisse Min, a junior at Hopewell Valley Central High School, and Hiro Yoshikawa, a junior at the Lawrenceville School, will perform "The Concerto for Two Pianos and Orchestra" by Francis Poulenc. Also on the program will be Robert McBride's orchestral work, "The Pumpkin Eater's Little Fugue."

Mary and Mark Ritts will return with their famous puppets. The Ritts Puppets, through their many television appearances, are now familiar to millions of Americans. Mark Ritts, who performs with his mother Mary, is presently a puppeteer on WCAU's Sunday Children's series "Starstuff." Children who have attended past MCSO Children's Concerts have become acquainted with orchestral music and have learned to identify the various instruments through the puppets' introductions.

Narration for the program will be done by Gordon Myers, singer, conductor, and professor of music at Trenton State College. Door prizes, balloons, refreshments and a music boutique will add to the occasion.

Tickets at $2 for adults and $1 for children, may be purchased in advance by calling Mrs. Carlota Dolich, 737-2280, or at the door on the day of the performance.

FIDDLER TO PLAY

In Folk Music Concert. The Princeton Folk Music Society will feature Johnny Cunningham in a house concert on Friday at 8 at the home of Art and Arlene Miller, 2 University Way, Princeton Junction.

Johnny Cunningham is known internationally as one of Great Britain's finest exponents of traditional fiddle playing. Brought up with, and influenced by, both Scottish and Irish music, Mr. Cunningham has been playing fiddle since the age of seven. He is a founding member of "Silly Wizard," Scotland's best known traditional group, with whom he has recorded.

Mr. Cunningham's experience is varied and he has not only performed at most festivals of note throughout Europe, the U.S. and Canada but has recorded, arranged and performed his music for film, radio, television and professional theatre.

Admission is $4 for adults, $3.50 for students, $3 for Society members. There are no advance sales. Memberships are available at the door. For further information call 890-1146.

PIANIST TO PLAY

At Woolworth Saturday. Michiko Ueda, pianist, will give a concert on Saturday at 8:30 in the McAlpin Rehearsal Room in Woolworth Center, on the University campus. Sponsored by the Friends of Music, the concert is free.

A native of Tokyo, Miss Ueda graduated from Tokyo University of Arts in 1970, having won numerous competitions and prizes. She continued her studies in Vienna at "die Hochschule für Musik und darstellende Kunst" where she graduated with highest honors. She later returned to Japan and performed extensively in concerts with orchestra and in recitals, and made radio and television appearances.

For her concert on Saturday, Miss Ueda will perform, Samuel Barber, Sonata, Opus 26; Akira Miyoshi, Sonata; and Beethoven, Sonata, Opus 109.

BACH MASS PLANNED

By Musical Amateurs. The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will hold its final "Sing" of this season on Sunday, April 4, at 3:45 in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road and Route 206.

Prof. J. Merrill Knapp of the Princeton University Music Department will conduct a reading of the Bach Mass in B minor for chorus, orchestra and soloists. The soloists will be Sharon Alexander, soprano; Susan Rodgers, alto; William Elchorn, tenor; and Gordon Myers, bass.

Everyone is welcome to sing in the chorus, and no auditions are required except for the soloists and the orchestra. A modest sight reading ability is helpful.

There is a small charge for those without a yearly membership to cover use of the music and refreshments. Students are admitted without charge. For further information, call Mrs. Michael Ramus at 924-4266.

BOYCHOIR TO GAIN

From Joint Concert. The West Point Glee Club and the College of New Rochelle Glee Club will join the American Boychoir for an Evening of Music at the Kirby Arts Center of the Lawrenceville School on Friday evening, April 2.

The program is being sponsored by the Princeton -

COLONIAL MUSIC SET

For Performance of Trenton State. Gordon Myers will give a recital Thursday, April 1, at 8 at Trenton State College's Bray Hall. The program will include secular choral music that appeared in the "Massachusetts Magazine" between 1789 and 1796.

Dr. Myers, a member of the TSC music department faculty, will be both presenter and performer in this concert. With an emphasis on history and artistry, he will offer a variety of compositions in solo, duet, and ensemble formats. He will be assisted by members of the Delta Omicron Music Fraternity and be accompanied by Dr. Mildred Bisgrove of Lawrenceville on harpsichord.

A recipient of two Rockefeller Foundation grants and release time from Trenton State College, Dr. Myers has researched and collected the music over a period of two years. He will dramatize his musical presentation with slide projections of the original songs as they appeared in print at the time. The recital is free and the public is invited. For further information, call the TSC music department at 771-2551.

SYMPHONY TO PERFORM

At War Memorial. An evocation of the "Thousand and One Nights," will be heard on Sunday afternoon, April 4, at 3 at Trenton's War Memorial Auditorium when the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra performs Ravel's "Sheherazade" and Rimsky-Korsakov's symphonic suite "Sheherazade."

Under the baton of music director Thomas Michalak, and with soprano Ewa Dobrowska as soloist for the Ravel song cycle, the NJSO will begin the program with Ravel's "Alborado del Gracioso."

This performance is the fourth of five concerts in the Princeton area subscription series. The next and final concert will be played at McCarter Theatre on Sunday afternoon, May 16, also at 3.

Single tickets are priced at $14.50 and $13.50 and may be purchased at 20 Nassau Street. For reservations, call the orchestra's box office in

REPEAT PERFORMANCE

For Chapin Cabaret. The cast of the 50th Anniversary Benefit Cabaret, "Broadway Melodies 1931-1981," will return to the Chapin stage for an encore performance Saturday, April 3 at 7:30 p.m.

Because the January evening was a sellout, a repeat of the program was requested for the many disappointed parents, children, faculty and friends. Tickets may be purchased or reserved by calling Chairman Patricia Boardman at 924-2449, 9-3 p.m. or 896-1947 after 4. The price is nominal and refreshments will be served during intermission and following the performance.

Mrs. Boardman, Chapin's kindergarten teacher for seven years, is the director of the group which includes other Chapin teachers, parents, and friends. She has appeared in nine PJ&B musicals at McCarter, the Princeton Community Players production of "Oliver," and several productions in England.

Board member and parent, Michael Resnick, was a lead singer for a New York group and has had experience in the fields of pop, rock, rhythm and blues. He was trained at the Juilliard School of Music.

Brian Kremen, an addition to the cast and a fellow performer with Mrs. Boardman, has appeared in Triangle Club shows as well as several PJ&B musicals. He belongs to the Regional Theatre and is now studying professionally in New York.

David Sweet, an assistant professor at Rutgers Medical School and parent, will sing several solos and duets. He was active in an American Theater group in Tapu Theater, South America, where he had roles in "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Hello Dolly."

Chapin's third grade teacher, Elizabeth Burrows, has had experience with madrigal and choral groups during her high school and college years. Mrs. Burrows is currently a member of the Princeton Seminary Choir. Fresh from his PJ&B performance as Ko Ko in "The Mikado," comes Jack Friedel, a speech pathologist at the Katzenbach School for the Deaf. He is a veteran of several PJ&B musicals, the Princeton Community Players, the Bucks County Playhouse, and a summer with the Thomas Playhouse in Maine.

Thomas Doyle, a recent director of a Pennington folk group, is the husband of Chapin's fourth grade teacher and parent of two former students. He holds two degrees in music, has performed in Trenton State College operatic productions and with the Trenton Artist Showcase.

Another PJ&B veteran, Nancy Hastings, brings to the Chapin stage her experience as a singer and dancer in various other musicals and productions.

Mrs. Nora Greenblatt, chairman of the Music Department, will play the piano; the artistic backdrop was designed by Mrs. Nancy Becker, Art Teacher; and the lighting and sound are under the direction of Stephen Gingo, Chapin's upper school science teacher.

TREES TRANSFORMED: Unexpected harmonies and contrasts characterize the display of sculpture in wood by Jane Teller and quilts by Joy Saville in the Gallery at Squibb.

ART
In Princeton

RUSSIAN AVANT GARDE
At University Art Museum. The early years of this century were a time of artistic ferment in Russia. Despite its relative cultural isolation, an artistically sophisticated avant garde produced art, theatre and literature that differed radically from earlier forms. Much of this was not only innovative but was also developed as a form of social protest in reaction to popular taste. A good deal of this avant garde activity paralleled changes taking place in Western Europe. The radical nature of this work can be seen in the exhibition of Russian and Soviet books on display at the Princeton University Art Museum. The assertive character of new typographic forms, the new geometry that was a function of the machine age and the visual surprises that were reactions against popular style are joined in a small display to create an energetic portrait of an aesthetic revolt.

The inclusion of more traditional volumes provides contrast with the more radical books and, in this case, some lovely art as well. Bookplates from children's tales, charming in content, are rendered in the lavish colors and complex linear patterns of the art nouveau and then tempered by elements of traditional Russian style. The remainder of the display is concerned with the art and design that moved in new directions as well as books that broke with tradition in content as well as form. Small works by Kandinsky, costumes designed by Leon Bakst for Diaghilev's Ballet Russe and cubo-futurist drawings by Malevich can be seen in conjunction with books in which the typography is replaced by rubber stamps and handwriting and the rules of grammar and language are suspended to create a "universal language for the future man".

At the Squibb Gallery. The combination of contemporary works in wood and in fabric create unexpected harmonies and interesting parallels between two distinctly different forms. Sculptor Jane Teller and quiltmaker Joy Saville both shape, arrange and joint their materials. The affect of the work of both artists is heavily influenced by the essential nature of their materials. In Teller's sculpture the intrinsic character of the wood is very much in the forefront, despite a strong vocabulary of shape, shadow and mass. In the quilts it is the softness and malleability of the fabric that is as important as the created pattern and color statements.

There are also dramatic contrasts between the quilts and the sculpture and these contribute much to the enjoyment of the exhibition. The busy, intricate patterns and the often high color of the quilts complements the monumental, essentially monochromatic, volumes and strong sense of displacement of space created by the sculpture. Teller's work is, itself, a study of contrasts and harmonies. The rhythms of repeated forms are interrupted by surface variety and subtle alterations in silhouette. Great masses are contradicted by hollow forms. Combinations of rough and smooth, curve and plane, small and large, and the sculptors toolmarks in-

F. MARTIN STERN, D.D.S.
LAWRENCE S. SINGER, D.D.S.

HONORED: George W. Hunt receives a plaque for 25 years of service with the Princeton Area Chapter, American Red Cross, from Barbara Roudabush, Chapter chairman.

Clubs and Organizations

For Service as Instructor. George W. Hunt, a lifelong resident of the Princeton area, has been presented with a plaque in recognition of his service of 20 years as first aid instructor and the last ten years as chairman of the first aid committee of the Princeton Area Chapter, American Red Cross.

Mr. Hunt is retiring as chairman of first aid, but will continue as an instructor. He was employed for a number of years with the Purchasing Division of Princeton University and for the past 12 years he has been associated with Hajoca Co., plumbing and heating wholesalers, in Trenton. He is a graduate of St. Paul's Grammar School, Princeton High School and holds an associate of arts degree from Rider College.

Before a serious and life-threatening illness during his senior year at high school, Mr. Hunt had dreams of being a professional baseball player. That dream, plus a wartime desire to be a United States Marine were shattered, and he spent the war years as an Air Corps observer.

In addition to teaching literally hundreds of courses in first aid through the Red Cross, he was president of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad from 1967 through 1969, and presently gives leadership to the first aid program of the Ski Patrol.

Those who have benefited from Mr. Hunt's training number more than 2,000, and the hours committed to the effort are staggering. In addition to Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation courses of eight hours each, and Standard First Aid courses of 15 hours, he teaches Advanced First Aid which takes 50 hours of class work and demonstration.

The Princeton Area Smith College Club will hold a spring party on Saturday from 5:30 to 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding Jr., 27 Rosedale Road.

In addition to hors d'oeuvre and an open bar, the festivities will include entertainment by the Smiffenpoofs, an a capella singing group made up of Smith College undergraduates. Smith alumnae, especially those who are new to the area, are encouraged to attend and bring family and friends.

Reservations for tickets at $7.50 per person may be made with Alice Smnll at 924-8344.

Le Cercle Francals de Princeton will meet on Tuesday at 6:30 at the Woodrow Wilson School, Bowl 6. Jacques Godboat, Quebec novelist, poet and journalist, will address the group on the "Situation of Quebec Literature."

The meeting, which is conducted in French, is open to the public.

Princeton Chapter of Deborah will hold a card party and a silent auction on Friday in the Kingston Firehouse, Heathcote Road, Kingston.

Admission is $2.50 and includes refreshments. Tickets will be sold at the door. For further information call Mary Etta Owens at 921-7164 or Laura Watson 924-0979.

Women writers are invited to meet with American Pen Women, Saturday at 10 at Epsteins Special Events Room, the Princeton Shopping Center.

The group's poetry manuscript workshop meets on Tuesdays at 4:30 at the Princeton Public Library. Other manuscript reading groups in fiction, children's literature and non-fiction are forming. Writers interested in an audience and a critique are welcome.

Under the direction of Joan Carris, published juvenile fiction writer, American Pen Women will discuss how it plans to contribute to the newly formed Writers Union in New Jersey, which evolved out of the Writers Congress in New York City.

An original play by Ann O'Shea will be read by Garnett Arledge and Janet Wittler. Guests are welcome. For further information, call Ms. Carris at 921-6206.

The Trenton Chapter of the American Institute of Banking will hold its 58th Annual Dinner Dance Saturday April 3, at Cedar Gardens Restaurant, Trenton. The banquet is held annually to recognize outstanding educational achievement by area bankers. The Trenton Chapter-AIB provides continuing education to the banking community in association with Mercer County Community College.

teracting with the natural textures of the wood create balances that make this sculpture an exciting and demanding art form.

There is a monumental quality to be found, even in the smaller works. Scale and balance create high drama, in the simplest of pieces, as well as in the more complex sculpture.

The colorful quilts appear even brighter and lighter in contrast with the wood. Some employ traditional patterns, while others are more innovative and employ contemporary design element in a clever manner. Trapunto effects are used creatively and, in a few cases, there are three-dimensional almost sculptural effects. There are shaped quilts too, that break with the familiar rectangular form. When considering the quilts, contrasts are as important as craft and form in determining the effect of the display.

The Princeton Gallery of Fine Art. Although this space is usually reserved for art, this week we would like to take the time to review a gallery, since the manner in which we respond to a considered work is often influenced by the nature of the setting. The setting, in this case, is the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art. In its third incarnation in town, the gallery has been designed by architect Dennis Miller with the needs of the viewers and the viewed clearly in mind.

A rather small area has been used for the gallery. Its original form has been completely altered and, the small space has been visually expanded into an apparently large area infused with light, in which each exhibited piece is allowed to establish clearly its own identity. Architect Miller has taken a confined space and visually expanded it by changing floor levels, adding and removing walls, and creating elements that are sculptural in character.

The result is a viewing space that, in itself, is pleasing to contemplate, but does not in any way intrude upon the display. Instead the structural variety that Miller has created allows different types and sizes of works to be displayed easily and attractively. Shelves hold small pieces that would otherwise seem unimportant in the large space. The high ceilinged lower level permits larger works to be seen in the best possible setting and also divides the seemingly large space to create a more intimate affect. A curved wall and stairwell provide architectural surprises such as the original supporting columns, cut out spaces and a corner that emanated from a curve do much to complete the sense of a well designed area.

NEW GALLERY OF FINE ART: In this store-front at 8 Chambers Street, architect Dennis Miller has created display space for the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art. It is the third Princeton location for the art gallery, which was burned out in the Benson Building fire five years ago, and subsequently occupied second-floor space in a Nassau Street building.

The current display includes prints, paintings and sculpture. Among them are the works of area artists such as Thomas George, Jane Tekler, Dorothea Greenbaum and Naomi Savage. Prints by Motherwell, Hoekney and Milton Avery are also part of this collection.

—Helen Schwartz

YOU, TOO, CAN DRAW

Art Association's New Semester. Four drawing classes, including one on the fundamentals, will be offered by the Princeton Art Association in the spring semester, which starts March 29.

An introductory course in watercolor will also be offered, and so will a course devoted to an examination of the steps required to produce transparent watercolor in the traditional style. Painting for Senior Adults is designed for experienced painters.

For those interested in oils or acrylic, the PAA offers classes at many levels. "Painting on Sunday" stresses the basics, while other classes emphasize painting techniques and a sense of pictorial design, or development of style. The PAA also has a class in portraiture.

Modeling techniques in clay are demonstrated in a class in beginning sculpture. Clay modeling from the nude figure will emphasize the basic concepts and materials of the three-dimensional form. A wood and stone sculpture workshop is for the experienced carver as well as the beginner. This class offers attention to the individual student.

"Adventures in Creativity" is for children, and so is "Environmental Design." In a new class for 12 to 15-year-olds, students will learn how to heighten their visual awareness. The course stresses basic drawing.

Pottery, lithography, intaglio, collagraphic printmaking and graphic design are all offered in special workshops for which no membership in the PAA or registration fee is required.

More details are available by calling 921-9173.

CLINIC TO GAIN

From Art Show. The Lewis Clinic for Educational Therapy will sponsor a one-woman show by the artist Edna Hibel at the Fine Arts Gallery, Inc., in Ardmore, Pa.

Ms. Hibel will greet the public at a champagne preview on Friday night, March 26, from 5 to 10, and on Saturday, March 27, from 10 to 4. The exhibition will then continue through Sunday, March 28 from 11 to 5. Proceeds from purchases made during this time will go to the Lewis Clinic, which is committed to the education of individuals with the learning disability dyslexia.

Ms. Hibel, the only living woman artist to have a museum dedicated to her work, is known for her gentle studies of people, especially women and children. The show will feature a large collection of her lithographs, oils on silk, collector plates and porcelain.

Admission is free and there is ample parking. The Fine Arts Gallery is located at 2 East Lancaster Avenue, Ardmore. For more information call 896-8161.

EXHIBIT PLANNED

Of Animation 'Cels.' Princeton University will be the host for an exhibit and sale of original art from animated films Thursday and Friday, from 10 until 6 in the Dillon Gym Lobby. The event will benefit the Princeton University Film Society, and the public is invited.

On display will be more than 250 individual paintings or "cels." These cels are all one-of-a-kind, not reproductions or prints, and were authenticated by Gallery Lainzberg of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a specialist in this art form. A representative of Gallery Lainzberg will be on hand to answer questions.

The exhibit-sale will offer the public an opportunity to see a broad range of animation cels, including fine examples from the Disney studios, Warner Bros., and Academy Award winning animator Chuck Jones. There will also be characters from "Gnomes," "Raggedy Ann and Andy," plus Betty Boop, Krazy Kat and many current TV favorites, including "Heavy Metal."

New Coach Hopes to Revive Interest in Princeton Baseball Season to Open Against Rutgers in New Brunswick on 31st

For a little more than a month this Spring, a group of about 35 men will play on a field in the shadows of Palmer Stadium weekday and weekend afternoons.

Their games will attract no more than a few hundred spectators tops, often less than 100. No game will ever appear on television, nor the area or campus radiostations, and scant attention will be paid by the nearby daily newspapers. This is the Princeton baseball team — blink, and the season will be over. In recent years, many have been losing ones, but so few have seemed to care.

It's against this background that new head coach Tom O'Connell is attempting to instill "A new enthusiasm, a new manner of approach," and eliminate "some fundamental problems." In short, O'Connell is trying to bring the sport back to life here after six years of caretaker coaches.

When Eddie Donovan retired after nearly a quarter century at the helm, Len Rivers, then an assistant football coach was appointed to fill the position. Rivers' experience as a baseball coach amounted to a couple of years coaching a high school team.

CAPTAIN AND COACH: Bob Holly, captain of the Princeton baseball team, will try to throw even more strikes from the pitcher's mound for new head coach Tom O'Connell, than he did on the football field last fall. The Tigers open their season Wednesday, March 31 in New Brunswick against Rutgers; first home game is the following Monday against Seton Hall.

Initially passed over in favor of Torborg, but possessing solid coaching credentials in the sport.

A highly successful coach at Brandeis University for the past 10 years, O'Connell has compiled a record of 162 victories, 65 defeats and five ties for a mark of .700.

His teams competed in six consecutive NCAA Division III Regional Tournaments, and also put together a string of five straight Greater Boston League championships, playing against such rivals as Harvard, Northeastern, Boston College, Tufts and MIT. His 1977 squad was 20-2; his 1979 team was 24-2, including a string of 23 straight wins, a New England record.

Who's returning? O'Connell sees himself as "a good disciplinarian, a strong fundamentalist and a sound fat financial package from teacher of the game." He hopes to bring about a winning record through more consistency in the Tigers' play. He'll have more than mirrors to work with, but not a big supply of talent.

Mark Lockenmeyer, the leading pitcher on last year's team with a record of 5-5 and an earned run average of 2.35, has departed, but Bob Holly is back. Holly was 3-4 with an ERA of 5.72, but he has looked well in pre-season exhibitions, including a fine performance against a Cleveland Indians Class AA team. The senior captain came into his own on the football field last fall, maybe the confidence gained there will carry over the baseball diamond.

Two other experienced hurlers return. Junior Steve Kordish started eight games last year, but could post just one victory against seven losses, and saw his ERA balloon to 6.14. Senior Mike Judy wasn't much more impressive in five starts, posting a 1-3 mark and an ERA of 6.00.

All three are righthanders, leaving O'Connell only two southpaws to choose from: senior Chris Brennand and sophomore Tom Kates. Neither saw any varsity duty last season. The best of the rest may be freshman Bill Beard.

O'Connell will be looking to strength up the middle to inspire overall consistent team performance. The key man here are senior shortstop Tom Hagerstrom and junior second baseman Paul Steinhauser. Hagerstrom is an excellent defensive player, if a bit weak at the plate, while Steinhauser matches his fielding with good hitting, finishing at .292 last May.

Junior letterman Dean Tanella has won the starting job at third base, displaying a solid bat. At first base, 6-2, 200 lb. junior Tom Teeple presents one of the team's best long-ball threats.

Freshmen Centerfielders. O'Connell feels the strength of the middle infield will be complemented by the strength in center field, where two freshmen will see action. O'Connell sees Ray Tuohy as a sound all-round player with strong defense. Isaac Carter, who played for Pete Carril this winter, has shown speed and fielding and throwing strength.

Sophomore Neil Cable, who batted .342 in 13 games last season, will start in right field. Junior Craig Best, a .300 hitter in nine contests a year ago will be in left. Kordish, a .274 hitter will also see action in the outfield when not on the mound.

O'Connell is looking for improvement in the catcher position over the last season. Junior Gerry Rodts, a two-year letterman, is the early favorite to resume his starting role, but he will be pushed by freshman Craig Peters. O'Connell is hoping the veteran Rodts will be able to help his largely inexperienced mound corps.

Whether he gets the Tigers over the .500 mark or not, O'Connell is definitely aiming to better last year's record of 13-21-1, and a 5-9 mark in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League. The Orange and Black finished in a tie with Columbia for seventh Somewhere along the way, the University administration, decided to renew its commitment to the sport, and sought out Yankee coach Jeff Torborg for the job. Torborg accepted an offer to coach here, but had a contractual obligation to fulfill, and Dick Hordnett was hired to fill in for one year after Rivers left.

However, 1981 proved to be another lost year, when Torborg couldn't turn down a fat financial package from the Yankee owner George Steinbrenner. Enter, O'Con-

It surprises many basketball fans to learn that the National Invitation Tournament (NIT) is older than the NCAA Tournament, which now decides the national championship ... The first NIT was held in 1938 ... The first NCAA tourney was not held until 1939.

Can you imagine any team losing 138 games in a row? ... It happened in high school basketball when Friendsville Academy of Seymour, Tenn. went from 1967 to 1973, losing 138 straight games ... That's a record that may never be broken.

... We are looking for new business-Auto, Homeowners, Major Medical and Life Insurance.

One of the most amazing performances ever seen in basketball came in 1953 when Bevo Francis of Rio Grande College not only scored 116 points in one game for the all-time record, but he was able to score all those points even though he was guarded by 3 opponents almost constantly throughout the game ... Francis' 116 points against Ashland on Jan. 9, 1953 are the most points ever scored by any player in any college basketball game in history.

Cirullo Worried About Lack of Depth as Lacrosse Team Prepares for Season's Opener against Columbia April 7

In key positions, his team has some real strength. What has Princeton High lacrosse coach Bill Cirullo concerned are the next two levels, as the Little Tigers prepare for the season's opener here April 7 with Columbia.

"The second and third lines are going to be a serious question mark," predicted Cirullo, starting his ninth year at the helm. "We've got to cut down on mistakes. The name of the game in lacrosse is cut down mistakes. You've got to establish second and third lines; you've got to give your first line a rest and bring in new people."

A lot will depend on what happens in the next two to three weeks, Cirullo feels. "We can be tough. We have players who can put the ball in the cage. But when the second and third lines go in we can't fall apart. We've got to learn that."

By opening game, Cirullo and his 63-member squad — up about a dozen from previous years — will have had a lot of lacrosse under their belts. On Saturday, PHS and three other N.J. teams will travel to Abington High School, the defending Pennsylvania champion, to play four teams from the Keystone state. Each team will play each other in a shortened game.

On Tuesday, PHS will scrimmage St. Joes — "a pretty good, very physical team" said Cirullo — at home. It will have had four scrimmages — PHS also scrimmaged Westfield and Loomis-Chaffey (Conn.) earlier — and have seen seven teams by the opener. "That's a lot of lacrosse, but just what I wanted," said Cirullo.

Among veterans returning from last year's team that ended with an overall 6-5 record are two seniors, Todd Beithaupt and Peter Versfeld, whom Cirullo described as "our mainstays on attack."

MAINSTAYS ON ATTACK: Two returning lettermen who will be the mainstays on attack for the PHS lacrosse team this season are seniors Peter Versfeld (left) and Todd Beithaupt.

Veteran Midfield. At midfield, Cirullo welcomes back three juniors who have been playing for him since freshman year: Matt Kinnan, Willie Whittaker and Scott Gabrielsen. Gabrielsen, who was second in scoring last year behind the departed Steve Budd with 33 goals, has fully recovered from knee surgery which caused him to miss two-thirds of the football season. The hard-nosed Gabrielsen was a second team, all-state selection as a sophomore. "He's an incredible player," said Cirullo.

On defense, Cirullo welcomes back three more former football players, seniors Steve Moseley and Paul Geller and junior Alex Hoke. "I expect a lot out of him; he's a very fine lacrosse player," said Cirullo of the 6'3, 220 pound Hoke, who made the Group 2, first team all-state football squad as an offensive guard. "If we ever get it all together — maybe this year," said Cirullo. "But we have no depth."

There is no dropoff in skill in front of the goal this season. Both Duncan MacKenzie, who played more in the beginning of the season, and Brian O'Grady, who saw action in the second half, are back. Both are seniors. "One compliments the other," said Cirullo.

Because he kept a lot of juniors on the jayvee team last year, feeling they "just weren't ready," Cirullo notes "I'm loaded with seniors." Three are Byron Price and Chris Peters, both middles, and Carl Rice. Rice may wind up playing attack with Beithaupt and Versfeld or he can also play midfield. Others Cirullo is expecting help from are Kyle Stevens, Ken Vnrvvel and sophomore Quintin Cote.

New Division Added. The addition of the Gibbs division to last year's Fitch and Pitt divisions will change the league structure. PHS is a member of the Pitt or southern division along with Lawrenceville, Peddie, Princeton Day School, Pingry and Hunterdon Central.

What Cirullo hopes to guard against is any letdown after a key loss. "When we get bent by a good team we just can't say 'Snyanora,'" he said. Which is what sunk the Little Tigers last year.

PHS had just come off two fine wins in which it had scored a total of 37 goals when it faced Summit, the top team in the state. Ahead 6-3 at the half, PHS failed to hold its lead and lost, 9-8. "We just couldn't do it. I can still see that game in front of my eyes," recalled Cirullo.

The next day, PHS with a shot to be ranked third in the state, lost 9-7 to Clark and the season started to slip away. It ended quickly on a down note when PHS was eliminated 11-6 by West Morris in the first round of the NJSIAA state tournament.

Rendall New Assistant. One plus for Cirullo will be the staff addition of Craig Rendall, who will coach the jayvee and freshmen. "That's 38-40 kids, but he's capable," said Cirullo. "He'll be a great benefit. I've never had an assistant before who knew anything about lacrosse."

Rendall, who played lacrosse under Cirullo at PHS and keeps active by playing club lacrosse, was Cirullo's associate on the football staff this fall.

place. Only Dartmouth and Penn had poorer records.

One scheduled break will help O'Connell's chances. Last year on their southern swing, the Tigers could win just twice in eight games, and started play back here at 2-6. This time, because play against some professional teams is involved, the six games played during spring break last week have been classified as exhibitions.

That's just as well, because the Tigers lost all six, dropping two to the Arizona JV team, 9-5, and 20-14, one to Pima College, 11-1, and three to a group of players from the Cleveland Indians' A and AA farm teams, 7-0, 7-1, and 7-6. Princeton took a 6-5 lead into the ninth in the final contest, but lost it when the home team scored twice against Beard.

The season will open officially next Wednesday, March 31 against Rutgers in New Brunswick. League play will start the following weekend with doubleheaders on the road April 3 and 4 against penn and Columbia. The first home game is set for Monday, April 5 against Seton Hall, beginning at 3.

TIGERS WIN TWICE

In Loyola Tournament. Smarting from a disappointing 10-9 double overtime loss to the University of Maryland-Baltimore County earlier in the week, the Princeton lacrosse team blew out Ohio State and Loyola over the weekend, easily winning the Loyola Invitational Tournament in Baltimore.

"We had to prove ourselves," commented co-captain and goalie Peter Cordrey. The proof was certainly overwhelming; the Tigers bombed a weak Ohio State team, 20-5, in the first round on Saturday, and then walloped the host squad in the Sunday final.

The easy triumph over the Buckeyes was not unexpected, but the margin of victory over Loyola was a pleasant surprise. The Greyhounds, winners over Notre Dame in their opening game, had also beaten Penn, 14-8. A former Division II team, they have moved up to Division I status.

The host team took an early 1-0 lead in the first period, but it was the only one it had all game, and did not last long. Co-captain Rip Wilson bounced a shot past the Loyola goalie at 4:23 to tie the score, and 22 seconds later Gerry Ronon took a pass from midfielder Mike Wieczorek and tallied, giving Princeton a lead it never relinquished. Ronon had four goals in each game and four assists, earning himself tournament MVP honors.

The Greyhounds narrowed the lead briefly to 3-2 at the start of the second quarter, but less than two minutes later Bob Flippin scored his first of three goals. The Orange and Black's confident ball handling and aggressive play began to tell, and it increased the lead to 9-5 by the half. The game became a rout in the third period, when the Tigers scored five unanswered goals. Wilson and Steve Delligatti also had hat tricks for the winners. Cordrey led a solid defensive unit with several nice saves.

The Ohio State contest was over early, with the Orange and Black scoring 16 times, before the Buckeyes finally beat Cordrey at 11:39 of the third quarter in a man-advantage situation.

Princeton will be at home for two games this week. This Wednesday at 3 it will meet Franklin and Marshall, and Saturday at 2 it will face Johns Hopkins, one of the top teams in the country.

WOMEN SWIMMERS 10th
In AIAW Championships. The Princeton women's swimming team, Ivy League and Eastern Region champion, fared well in AIAW National Championships held last week in Austin Texas, finishing in 10th place. Texas won the title.

The Tigers' 800 Free Relay quartet of Diana Caskey, Ann Heusner, Liz Richardson and Betsy Lind, turned in the team's best performance, winning the race with a time of 7:22.56, breaking the old Princeton record by 18 seconds.

BETTER YEAR AHEAD?
Hun's McQuade Hopes So. From a fine team two years ago, Hun baseball coach Bill McQuade lost 13 of 15 players.

Robinson Unanimous All-Ivy Pick

Craig Robinson has received two post-season honors for his outstanding play as a member of the Princeton basketball team this winter.

In addition to being a unanimous selection to the All-Ivy first team, Robinson, along with Paul Little of Penn, was named Ivy League player of the year. Robinson topped the league in field goal percentage (.577) and blocked shots (22), was second in rebounding, and third in scoring (251 points, 17.9 average).

Besides Robinson, Little and Darren Burnett were also unanimous selections. Rounding out the first team are senior forwards Don Fleming of Harvard and Mike Lucas of Cornell.

Named to the second team were junior forward Ira James of Brown, sophomore guard Butch Graves of Yale, junior forward Steve Leonidis of Yale, junior forward Michael Brown of Penn and senior guard Jon Edwards of Dartmouth. Sophomore guard Bill Ryan was one of four players receiving honorable mention.

In Ivy League hockey voting, the Tigers placed no one on the first team. Senior defenseman Todd Hewett was named to the second team, and goalie Ron Dennis, a first-team pick a year ago, received honorable mention.

First team selections included Scott and Mark Fusco of Harvard, Dan Poliziani and Bobby Brooke of Yale, and Joe Gallant and Brian Hayward of Cornell. Poliziani was named Ivy player of the year, Scott Fusco, rookie of the year.

It forced him to go with a lot of inexperienced players last spring and McQuade concedes "We struggled a lot." Hun ended 7-13—not a typical McQuade team.

This year, the 11th for the former Princeton High basketball captain, McQuade says quite a number are coming back and he has a "decent nucleus, but we're short on skill positions." Pitching, catching and shortstop are the big holes that have to be filled.

Hun will open a 21-game schedule next Thursday, April t, when it plays host to Pingry.

Before that, Hun will engage in more scrimmages than usual—a big plus in McQuade's eyes. The Raiders have already had two informal games with Princeton High School and will also have pre-season tests against Trenton, Montgomery, Franklin Township and McCorristin—the latter two days before the opener.

Set at Second. The Hun infield will be anchored by junior Martin Sumners, a second team all-prep choice last year, who batted over .300 and is fleet of foot. "One of our strong points, one of our pluses," said McQuade. Sumners plays second.

At first, the probable starter is junior Dean Forman, a transfer student from Bordentown. Forman may also be called upon to do a little pitching.

Contending to fill the gap at short are senior Greg Frank, who saw limited action last year, and a post grad student from north Jersey Rob Kiernan. Kiernan did not play the sport his senior year in high school and McQuade reports that he is "trying to work out the rough spots." He described him as a good athlete with a good arm.

Rich Stout, who batted over .330 as a freshman, and sophomore Pete Stam are vying for the starting berth at third. Both will join veteran Rich Landis (3-4 last year) to make up the heart of the Hun mound staff. Landis, co-captain of the team, will play in the outfield or double as a DH when not on the mound.

Another candidate for first or third is senior Kris Wronski, a senior and captain of the basketball team, who is out for the first time. "He looks good defensively, it's a matter of whether he can handle the hitting," summed up McQuade. "He's a natural athlete."

First in line among three battling to start behind the plate is Scott Crater, who was a backstop at Montgomery High but switched to lacrosse when he transferred to Hun. This year, Crater, a good defensive catcher has opted again for baseball.

Torio In Left. Senior John Torio, the team's other co-captain, and a good hitter will patrol left field, while junior Paul Pintella, a starter all last year, will be back in center. Pintella tailed off in hitting last year but has a lot of ability, McQuade reported.

Chris Hunninghake, who hasn't missed a practice yet, even though a pulled lower back muscle has him sidelined, is a candidate for right field. A junior who batted .260 last year, Hunninghake hopes to be ready to play by the start of the season.

If not, Pedro Branche, a junior who rapped the ball at a .400 clip on the jayvee team, could claim the right field position. A good hitter, weaker on defense, was McQuade's assessment.

Two other candidates are Rick Stoy, a .300 hitter for the jayvees last year, and Andrew Marlatt, a junior, who never played the sport before. The 6-3 Marlatt, a starter on the Hun basketball team, is big and throws hard, observed McQuade. "It's just a matter of teaching him the fundamentals as soon as possible."

With a more experienced team this year, Hun should climb above the .500 mark, but in the Preps, McQuade commented, if you want to win any titles, "you've got to beat Lawrenceville and Pingry." Pingry, which finished second to Lawrenceville in the state prep championship final, has its whole team back, according to McQuade, while Lawrenceville "still has Kunkel back. As long as they have Kunkel that can beat anybody on a given day."

"Then we've still got the Ewings and the Hamiltons," added McQuade. "It makes it a tough year."

KNUDSON SCORES AGAIN

On Ski Slope. Another week, another ski trophy for Princeton's resident ski champion, Ann Knudson-Fitzpatrick.

Last week at the three-day Eastern United States Citizen Championship held at Vermont's Pico Peak, Anne placed first in the downhill and was awarded the Fastest Female Racer trophy. She also received first-place trophy as a team member of the Flying Dutchmen, the fastest ski club, and placed Welcome!

The United States Ski News
(March 1, 1982) Official publication of the United States Ski Association and the U.S. Ski Team

"In the three year history of the Grand Marnier Ski Club Challenge, only one team ever represented the northeast region in the National Championships, the Mt. Mansfield Ski Club of Vermont. Their reign came to an end on a clear sunny day at Shawnee Mt., as the Flying Dutchman Ski Club based in Reading, Pennsylvania, put together a solid team effort in an upset win.

The Flying Dutchmen were led by Anne Knudson-Fitzpatrick. She won top honors and the Look Golden Ski Binding Award for the fastest individual female racer of the competition. "We had good competition right close to us," Fitzpatrick said. "I think it pulled us ahead and kept us strong."

Princeton's

More than 220 racers on 37 teams began competition in the first round eliminations. The ten best teams from that round moved to the finals. The challenge has been called the "weekend world cup" and is the National Championship for racers in club competition."

Ski-Racing, Vol. XIV, No 13
(February 1982) The International Journal of Ski Competition

"We were consistent and flat-skied it," Fitzpatrick said. "I think that's what made the difference. It was a real team effort and that's what makes it exciting." Fitzpatrick and the Flying Dutchmen will go on to compete for the National Championship, March 22-27 in Steamboat, Colorado."

As you read this I will be representing you, New Jersey, and the entire East coast at the 1982 Grand Marnier U.S. National Championship.

Ski racing demands tremendous amounts of determination, dedication, perfection of skill, agility, and muscular strength. I attribute my success to a strong positive mental attitude, the development of cardiovascular ability, the improvement of aerobic endurance and stronger, faster muscles. I sincerely feel my Nautilus Body Conditioning program has greatly affected my performance this season.

Now I feel prepared to give it my best at the 1982 U.S. National Championship. The time has come.

Wish me Luck!

fourth in the giant slalom behind three competitors from Vermont.

One-hundred twenty-five women and 125 men were selected from the east coast to participate in the invitational event which was sponsored by the United States Ski Association.

Knudson-Fitzpatrick, owner and operator of the Princeton Nautilus Fitness Center, has been named to the 1982-83 Eastern Alpine Citizen Racing Team, consisting of five women and five men chosen from the eastern region of the U.S. That team will represent the east in the U.S. National Citizen Championship next year.

SATURDAY IS START

Of PSA Soccer Season. Opening games of the Princeton Soccer Association's spring season will be played Saturday morning on the Washington Road fields. Places are still available for girls and boys in grades 1 through 8.

The Bantam League (grades 1 & 2) and the Intermediate League (grade 4) will begin at 9, the Cub League (grade 3) and the Senior League (grades 6-8) at 11, and the Junior League (grade 5) at 10. For further information, call 921-0442 or 924-8631.

PSA's traveling teams opened their season Sunday with three wins, one tie and three losses. Highlighting the day was the Princeton '71 "A" team's defeat of Montgomery "B", 11-1, on four goals by Johnny Haber, three by Ruben Steiger, two by David Edge and one each by Lara Taber and Rocky Mould.

The PSA is considering forming an adult league for those over 18 if there is sufficient interest. Games would be played from 1:15 to 2:15 on Saturdays at the Washington Road fields with warm-ups starting at 1.

There would be a small registration fee but no practices. The intent is to have an informal program. Anyone interested in playing or helping should call 924-9150.

SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED

In Memory of Sandy Kucks. The Youth Tennis Foundation of Princeton will again award the Sandy Kucks Memorial Scholarship to a deserving tennis enthusiast. The scholarship was established in 1976 by Sandy's parents, Dana Carroll and the late Mrs. Carroll, who have been long-time supporters of tennis in the Princeton area. Sandy was an avid community tennis player and an organizer of umpires and linesmen for the Princeton area tournaments.

Open to either juniors or adults, the scholarship may be used for lessons during any season of the year. Eligibility is limited only by financial need. Since the spring session is scheduled to begin April 5, juniors and adults are encouraged to apply soon.

This spring, the Youth Tennis Foundation will offer classes for juniors (3rd through 12th graders) during the week and on weekends, for adults in the mornings and the evenings and for senior citizens (55 and over) on weekday afternoons. Classes will be offered at all levels — beginner, advanced beginner, intermediate and advanced. Registrations are being accepted at the Tennis Office, 71 University Place, weekdays from 9 to 5. Those interested in applying for the Sandy Kucks Memorial Scholarship should call the Tennis Office, 924-4343, for an application.

TENNIS COURTS TO OPEN

On April 10. The Princeton Recreation Department will open its cushion surface tennis courts on Saturday, April 10. Season tickets may be purchased at the recreation office at the following rates: resident adult, $30; resident child (17 and under), $15; senior residents (60 or older), $15.

The season ticket allows residents to bring guests on four occasions, and phone reservation privileges will continue. The ticket will also provide admission to the team's defeat of Montgomery "B", 11-1, on four goals by play.

The department also has a limited number of non-resident memberships available. The fees are twice that of resident rates but offer the same privileges. Those interested should call the recreation office at 921-9480.

Register for Tennis. All women interested in participating in the women's team tennis league must register with the recreation department before April 16.

The league is designed for all levels of play. Interested players must register with a partner, and those who do not have one will be put on the substitute list. League members must be resident or non-resident tennis permit holders. Applications are available at the recreation office. The season will begin on April 26. Matches are played on Mondays from 10:30 to 12 noon. For additional information, contact the recreation department.

Slimnastics, Too. The recreation department will begin its spring session of Slimnastics next Monday, April 5. The class runs for nine weeks and meets every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning from 10 to 11 at the Christ Congregation Church.

The fee is $15 for Princeton residents; $30 for non-residents. The deadline to enroll is Monday. To register or for additional information, call the recreation office.

SPRING SESSION NEARS

For Princeton Tennis Program. Beginning April 5, the Princeton Community Tennis Program will offer eight weeks of outdoor lessons for juniors and adults in the evenings. Adult daytime classes will begin April 26, and will meet twice a week for four weeks.

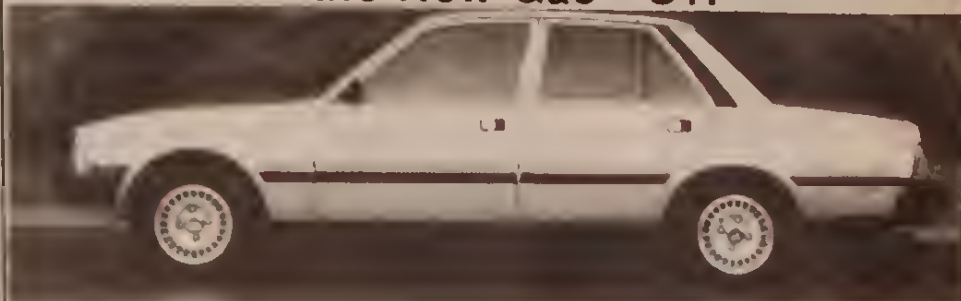

There will be group instruction for all levels of play, from beginner through advanced. Juniors can start as early as the third grade with the beginner class.

In addition to classes, details of round robin play, seniors' activities, and upcoming junior and adult tournaments can be found in PCTP's brochure. Anyone who has not received a brochure should call the tennis office, 924-4343, to request one.

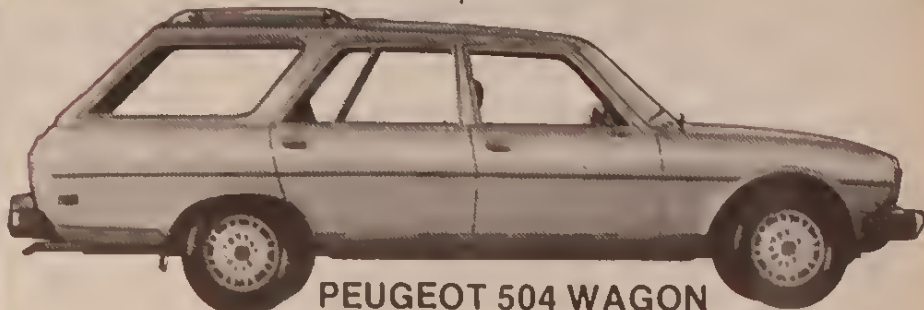

Copies of the brochure are also available throughout town at the Recreation Department, Princeton Bank, YM-YWCA, the Public Library, Princeton University Store, Sports People, Princeton Nautilus Center, Toto's Market, University Cleaners, Hinkson's, Hulit's, and indoor tennis centers and area schools.

CLASSES LISTED

In Canine Obedience. The Princeton Dog Training Club which provides a wide variety of canine training programs, will hold classes on Thursday evenings at the Princeton Day School gymnasium beginning April 1.

Classes include a puppy kindergarten class for dogs 3-6 months in age and a beginner's class for people interested in teaching their dogs basic obedience commands, such as sit, down, stay, heel and come. There is also a series of sub-novice and novice classes that aid dogs and handlers in attaining the Companion Dog obedience title.

Also available is advanced training for those working towards the Open or Utility obedience degrees. Individuals enrolled in these classes will be instructed by Robert Costa, owner-handler of the first dog in the American Kennel Club to attain a championship title in both obedience work and the breed ring and also in field trials.

For individuals desiring to show their dogs in the breed conformation ring, P.D.T.C. provides a show handling class. In all of these classes, the emphasis is on the handler learning to train his dog himself. For more information concerning enrollment, call (201) 446-2159.

REGISTRATION DUE For Nursery School. Registration for September is now underway at Nassau Cooperative Nursery School, Riverside Drive. Nassau Co-op offers a full, pre-school program from 9 to 12 with an optional extended day until 3. The school serves children three and four years of age. For further registration information, Call Donna Satow at 921-1057.

TALK SUNDAY At Montessori Center. The Lakeside Montessori Center of Princeton will present a talk on "Choosing a Preschool Program for Your Child: The Montessori Advantage," on Sunday at 3.

Glinny Bernau-Cusack, director of the Center and AMI trained, will focus on the Montessori philosophy and educational method and compare it with other preschool programs that are commonly offered. The program of the Lakeside Montessori Center will be explained, and materials used in the Montessori classroom will be available for examination.

The Center is located in the Church of Christ building at 33 Silver Road. The presentation is for adults only.

Ms. Bernau-Cusack founded the Lakeside Montessori Center two years ago and has directed it since. The Center has grown from one to two full classrooms during this time. It has continued to offer both a half-day and a full-day Montessori program and a broad-based extended day program from 8-9 and from 3-5:30. Ms. Bernau-Cusack has had nearly 20 years of classroom and administrative experience.

For further information, call the Lakeside Montessori Center at 924-8077 between 9 and 3.

LIONS TO GAIN From Fertilizer Sale. The West Windsor Lions Club will hold its annual spring fertilizer sale Saturday from 9 to 3 at Lucor Hardware in Princeton Junction.

The sale will feature some 30 different types of Scotts brand fertilizer as well as a different brand of 5-10-5 and 6-10-4 mixture. A Scott's expert will be on hand to answer questions.

For information call Ted Somers at 799-0706.

PUBLIC INVITED To Library Board Meeting. An evening meeting of the board of trustees of the Public Library will be held Monday night at 8 in the Library's meeting room. In addition to committee reports, the meeting will provide board members and members of the public with an opportunity to discuss long-term needs and service priorities for the Library.

After 20 years of existence, the jointly supported Public Library is finding previously established concepts of service challenged by economic and social pressures," said board president Janice Stonaker. Board members hope the special evening meetings will permit Library users to learn more about the internal operations, to discuss existing services and programs provided by the Library, and to make suggestions for future public library services in Princeton.
